HEBER SPRINGS SUFFERS BRUNT OF FREAK STORM

Fifteen Blocks Are Reported Damaged and at Least Fifteen Persons Are Known To Be Dead.

MOSCOW REPORTS EIGHT ARE KILLED

Five Persons Reported Killed at Oppelo. Damage Caused by Storm in Southwestern Oklahoma

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.

Little Rock, Ark., November 25.—Tornadoes, striking sharply at a half dozen scattered points in north-central, west and central Arkansas late today and early tonight, accounted for 29 dead and at least 50 injured, seven seriously, with reports still incomplete.

The greatest loss of life and property damage occurred, it was believed, at Heber Springs, in Cleburne county, with 15 persons dead, an undetermined number injured and approximately 15 blocks of dwellings in the north section of the little town destroyed.

At Oppelo, some 75 miles southwest, in Conway county, a party which gathered at the home of Jake Stafford, seeking shelter from rising winds, saw him and his wife and daughter killed when the residence was blown away. Seven were hurt.

Eight persons were killed and 30 injured at Moscow, a small community in Jefferson county, including several negroes.

The home of Dr. Harkness at Bellville, in Yell county, was swept away and he badly hurt, while two other residents received injuries; the Looi Lybrand home, south of Sheridan, was carried several miles, a child was killed and five others hurt, and the Deberry farmhouse at Wooster, Faulkner county, was demolished and six persons hurt.

Property damage, it was indicated, was not excessive, probably being greater at Heber Springs in Cleburne county, north Arkansas, where a railroad agent reported, according to an intercepted message, 15 blocks of dwellings were damaged and 10 persons known to be dead, with a second terrible windstorm preventing search for the injured.

PANAMA FLIGHT FAILURE IS LAID TO FAULTY ENGINE

Record of John Rodgers on Honolulu Hop Still Stands as Greatest Naval Non-Stop.

Washington, November 25.—(P)—The shade of John Rodgers smiled encouragement today to his former mates as they rested and contemplated their failure to write a new chapter to the annals of aeronautics. The feat of the valiant commander who, 15 months before, had led an expedition across the Pacific which brought him and his crew down a record distance of 13,411 miles from the starting point to drift nine days before a submarine found them off the island of Hawaii, remains the greatest non-stop performance for many fliers in PN seaplanes.

Two PN-10 seaplanes, improved in design and construction over those which Rodgers and his companions flew, were down today. They took off at twilight Tuesday on a non-stop venture intended to take them 2,080 miles from the Hampton Roads, Virginia, to Canal Zone.

Waiting for Oil.
That of Lieutenant Commander E. T. Barrett, the PN-10 No. 2, was taking inventory today of his flight at Siguana bay, Isle of Pines, preparatory to resuming the voyage. Barrett, with Lieutenants H. C. Rodd and C. H. Schildhauer, and aviation chief machinist's mate, Charles J. Sutter, went down at Nueva Corona, Isle of Pines, at 5:30 a. m. yesterday, their oil supply exhausted.

He reported today that repairs could be made in time to take off at 6 a. m. tomorrow for the final 707 mile hop to Colon and requested a destroyer to stand guard along the route. If none is available he will undertake the flight with the cruiser Raleigh trailing him at 25 knots.

The companion craft, PN-10 No. 1, Lieutenant Byron J. Connell, commanding, was flying along today under tow of the light cruiser Cincinnati, 13 miles south of the point where he was picked up last night by the Cincinnati, headed for Guantanamo bay at a speed of eight knots.

Lieutenant Connell reported that all members of the crew were well. He said the plane would need a new starboard engine and asked that equipment be sent him at Guantanamo to install the engine. A connecting rod in this motor had broken after the crew had struggled against a feverish oil pressure, forcing the ship down 245 miles south of the Isle of Pines.

Annulment of Marriage Declared "Discredit to Christian Church and Injury to Religion."

CATHOLIC BISHOP DEFENDS ACTION

John J. Dunn Asserts Church Defended Sanctity of Marriage in Its Essentials in Decision

New York, November 25.—(P)—The "whole proceeding" of the annulment by the Catholic church of the marriage of the Duke of Marlborough and the former Consuelo Vanderbilt "is a discredit to the Christian church and injury to religion," said Bishop William T. Manning, of the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, today.

The bishop's statement took the form of an extended message to the diocese of New York, in which he said, "If marriages are to be declared null and void on pleas so unreal as this, no marriage, and no home, can be regarded as sacred."

Further characterizing the action of the bishop, the statement took the form of a vaticanism to pass upon the validity of the marriage between members of another communion, solemnized in a Protestant Episcopal church in New York, under the laws of the United States.

Jurisdiction Denied.
"This assumption of jurisdiction by a vatican court," he said, "has serious implications and will be rightly resented by great numbers of our people. Our religious liberty in this country must be uncompromisingly defended against any such interference. This incident is a sharp reminder to those who love freedom of the importance of maintaining complete separation of church and state."

The Vanderbilt-Marlborough wedding was solemnized in St. Thomas Protestant Episcopal church here in 1905.

"Many who were present at the marriage," said the bishop, "and were associated closely with the Marlboroughs at the time have informed me that they saw no sign whatever that they saw no sign whatever that

FATE OF COOLIDGE RESTS ON OPINION MESSAGE CAUSES

Recommendations May Make or Break His Candidacy for Third Term in White House.

TAX REFUND ONE OF MAIN FEATURES

Attitude Assumed by President on Farm Relief To Have Important Bearing on Politics.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

(By Leased Wire to The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)

Washington, November 25.—President Coolidge is writing a message to congress that will be an important factor in shaping his political destiny and is not unlikely to exert a profound influence upon the events of the next two years. It may make or break him as a candidate for another term in the white house. The message is the annual report which the constitution requires the executive to make to congress. It will be transmitted to congress on December 7, presumably in writing as the president is disposed to confine personal appearance before the legislative branch to extraordinary occasions.

The outstanding recommendation of legislation which the message will contain will be that of a reduction of taxes on 1926 incomes payable in 1927.

At Critical Juncture.
What the president will have to say, in support of his proposal of the one-year reduction in income taxes and against a permanent revision of taxes downward, and the attitude he will assume on the question of farm relief legislation will have an important bearing not only on the situation in congress, but upon the political situation generally.

The president has arrived at a critical juncture in his career. The events of the coming year will determine whether there will be an impressive public demand for his continuance in office for another term.

Not since 1923 has a Coolidge message been awaited with so intense interest, for it is realized that the utterances of the president on this occasion will be reflected sooner or later in the enhancement of importance of his political prestige. Will he present his one-year tax reduction proposal so convincingly that the democrats and critical republicans will be disarmed and the country rallied

MRS. HALL READY TO FACE JURORS IN CHOIR CASE

Widow of Murdered Rector Will Go on Stand To Tell Her Story Today or Saturday.

WILLIE PRAISED FOR HIS ABILITY

Mrs. Hall Comes to Jail To Have Thanksgiving Dinner With Brothers and Cousin.

Somerville, N. J., November 25.—

(P)—Mrs. Frances Stevens Hall, about to follow her two brothers to the witness stand in the Hall-Mills case, came to jail today to have Thanksgiving dinner with them.

Prepared to testify tomorrow or Saturday, she was joyous and smiling as she reached the jail and issued one of her few statements when she told reporters, "I hope you have a good Thanksgiving dinner."

Mrs. Hall brought several applause cards to Willie Stevens. It was evident that her cheerfulness was caused, in part at least, by many letters she has received from friends telling of their enthusiasm over Willie's ability to take care of himself as a witness.

Willie at Ease.
On the stand in his own behalf, her brother, William, Carpenter Stevens, was very much at ease and offering a sharp contrast to the general impression of the prisoner.

As her brother testified, alertly sidestepping traps laid for him by prosecution counsel, and politely correcting the state's lawyer when he fumbled a pronunciation or term, Mrs. Hall beamed her satisfaction.

She saw him justifying her characterization of him as a "very gallant gentleman" and coming strongly to the support of the family physician who testified that he was able to "make a lot of people look foolish."

Carpenter at Dinner.
Henry and Willie Stevens and their sister were joined at dinner by their cousin, Henry de La Bruyere Carpenter. He, too, is under indictment on a charge of murdering Mrs. Eleanor R. Mills and the Rev. Edward W. Hall, but was not brought to trial with his relatives.

He went to the witness stand late Wednesday and added his denial of any connection with the crime, to that of his cousins when objection to his testimony precipitated a legal argument, not yet decided.

The jury today was given two of the best restaurant spreads Somerville affords, having a Thanksgiving luncheon followed by a dinner with the same frills.

Doheny Counsel Fights Evidence From Oil Probe

Arguments on Documents From Senate Hearing on Elk Hills To Be Completed Today.

MAGNATE'S "LOAN" TO FALL INVOLVED

Doheny's Testimony Before Walsh Issue in Case, With Government Anxious To Introduce It.

Washington, November 25.—(P)—

One of the vital points at issue in the trial of Edward L. Doheny and Albert B. Fall awaits decision in the District of Columbia superior court tomorrow, before the government can proceed with the introduction of evidence by which it hopes to prove the oil magnate and the former secretary of the interior guilty of conspiracy.

The question is whether the record of the senate oil hearings, containing the testimony of Doheny that he advanced Fall $100,000 while negotiations for lease of the Elk Hills reserve were progressing, should be admitted as evidence. Counsel for both the government and the defense have shown they consider the ruling of the court on this point to be of the utmost importance.

Walsh on Stand.
Ground work for presentation of the committee record was laid Wednesday after a brief appearance on the witness stand by Senator Walsh, of Montana, who called the senate committee meeting at which Doheny made his disclosure. But when the government offered the voluminous, carefully checked and sworn-to documents, an emphatic objection was raised by the defense, and the question went over until tomorrow when arguments as to its admissibility will be heard.

The defense holds the law prohibits introduction of testimony before a congressional committee as evidence in a criminal prosecution if the defendant was the source of the evidence. This contention was advanced in the brief period of argument before court adjourned yesterday for the Thanksgiving holiday. The government counsel will combat this claim tomorrow, but their argument has not been disclosed.

Everybody connected with the trial had a day of freedom today from the surroundings of the courtroom, except the jury, which found itself still

MAINE GOVERNOR HITS REPUBLICAN SENATE CANDIDATE

Violation of Law Regulating Expenditures in Recent Primary Are Charged by Brewster.

Augusta, Maine, November 25.—

(P)—Arthur R. Gould, republican United States senatorial nominee, repudiated by his governor on the eve of a state investigation of his primary campaign expenses, tonight turned on his accusers with a statement bitterly criticizing the attitude of Governor Ralph O. Brewster and characterizing his denials as a "cheap political game unworthy of the lowest ward politician."

"I am astonished that on the eve of a most serious hearing before the secretary of state the governor of the state of Maine has seen fit to prejudice the case," said Gould's statement, and issue a statement so malicious, so slanderous and so unfounded in truth as to make it apparent to any person that he is playing a cheap political game unworthy of the lowest ward politician."

Football and Turkey Chief Features of Thanksgiving

BY PAUL STEVENSON.
With a football game between Georgia Tech and Auburn as the chief entertainment feature; with special services in numerous Atlanta churches of all denominations, and with many people taking outings or hunting and fishing trips, Atlanta observed Thanksgiving day successfully albeit quietly.

Down town streets were thronged until past the noon hour by visitors to the football game and with the colors of their favorite teams flying and dressed in holiday attire they lent a gala touch to the holiday.

Services at the churches were well attended, and some of the church organizations distributed Thanksgiving baskets to poor people. Special musical programs were offered at several of the churches while some of the others held "sunrise" services.

In the afternoon, those who did not go to the football game thronged the downtown streets and kept things lively for several hours.

School children of the Atlanta public schools were able to spend their usual Thanksgiving day vacation with the full joy of the benefactor for the part they played in making the day a happy one for the less fortunate.

Thanksgiving dinner baskets were assembled at the schools Wednesday morning and distributed to the pupils. With every child participating, if only with a meager bit, the response was exceedingly gratifying, according to Miss Mary Postell, assistant superintendent in charge of elementary grades. The distribution of the baskets was arranged by the P.T.A.s.

other public buildings were closed for the entire day or for half the day to give their employees opportunities to enjoy the holiday.

Several groups of state officials took advantage of the holiday to enjoy hunting trips. Two parties of rabbit hunters and three parties of bird hunters were organized at the capitol, while one party of state officials left for south Georgia on a fishing trip.

Although the day was somewhat moist, a light rain falling in the forenoon, many parties of school children, boy scouts and girl scouts enjoyed trips to the wooded sections near the city where picnic dinners were in order.

While the great bulk of Atlanta football fans attended the Tech-Auburn game, several large parties of University of Georgia rooters went to Birmingham to witness the game played in that city by the University of Georgia and the University of Alabama.

After the football game, the usual crowd of celebrants thronged the downtown streets and kept things lively for several hours.

School children of the Atlanta public schools were able to spend their usual Thanksgiving day vacation with the full joy of the benefactor for the part they played in making the day a happy one for the less fortunate.

Amateur Spirit Finest Phase Of American Football Game

ENGLISH WRITER CHANGES PRECONCEIVED IDEAS

(Editor's Note—Thomas Cadett, of The London Times, is the holder of the Walter Hines Page newspaper fellowship, and is spending a year in America under the terms of the fellowship. He has temporarily joined the staff of The Constitution. Mr. Cadett has served on the staffs of The San Francisco Chronicle and The Chicago Daily News. The Constitution was selected, without its southern newspaper on which he is to serve in getting a national acquaintance with American conditions.)

BY THOMAS CADETT.
British ignorance of American football is very fairly paralleled by the mystery that cricket has for this country. Pictures of curious-looking creatures clad in fearsome helmets and armor give us the impression that your football is a brutal and dangerous game; and, as we do not play it ourselves, we are prepared to believe that it is a mentally unattractive atmosphere.

I am well aware that there are professional teams engaged in the game, but even the best of such matches are a sorry comparison with what I choose to call the real game. The spirit of the play is different, and the spirit of the crowd is different.

Professional sport has always been with us, from the Roman gladiator to the "soccer" player of England or the American ball player of today; and when properly conducted, it deserves a creditable place for the amount of public entertainment afforded. Nevertheless, the finest thing about American football is its fundamentally amateur atmosphere.

Incidentally, no study of any people can be complete until one has observed their national games, and the atmosphere attached thereto. And football, essentially in the playing a part of young America, is the most interesting of all.

It is impossible not to be affected by the intensity of feeling that the game arouses. This applies not merely to the crowd and the players on the ground, but to the universities themselves. The training, self-sacrifice, and whole-hearted preparation involved reach down to the very roots of university life, as I have personally seen after two weeks spent as the guest of a fraternity house in California. It can be overdone, of course, and sometimes is, so that the game becomes a fetish and a great part of its value lost. But at its best it is the finest expression of the truly sporting spirit that the country produces.

Temporary Stay Allowed on Grounds That Warden Would Not Have Been Executioner.

HEARING ON POINT IS SET FOR MONDAY

Judge Will Hear Arguments at Gray; Gore Was To Be Electrocuted Today.

KNOW SOMETHING WOULD HAPPEN

Milledgeville, Ga., November 25.—(P)—"I knew that something would take place that would save me from the chair tomorrow," said Mell Gore in death cell here tonight when informed of the action of Judge J. B. Park.

Throughout the day Gore had been unusually happy, telling his friends that something would delay the execution.

Gore said that he wanted to correct statements that had gone out to the effect that his wife had not visited him.

"She has been here twice," said Gore, "and she gets a letter from me every day."

Greensboro, Ga., November 25.—(Special.)—Mell Gore, sentenced to die at the state farm on Friday for his connection with the slaying of W. H. Cheek, Atlanta storekeeper, gained another lease on life tonight at 7 o'clock when Judge James B. Park, of the Ocmulgee circuit, Georgia superior court, granted a temporary injunction staying the execution on the grounds that there is no warden to execute Gore and that if executed by any person except a "warden," the execution would be illegal. The temporary injunction is to be heard Monday at Gray, at 4 o'clock.

Lewis Maritzer and Linton S. James, attorneys for Gore, appeared before Judge Park tonight and presented a petition, which set forth that the act legalizing death by electrocution in Georgia states that the "warden shall electrocute" and that Georgia has no warden authorized to electrocute prisoners, and that the prison commission has never elected a "warden."

Text of Order.
The temporary order signed by Judge Park sets out "That from the sworn allegation in the petition and from the exhibits attached thereto as to the orders of the prison commission attached thereto, there is no legal warrant to execute the defendant."

It was pointed out in the petition that Captain B. H. Dunaway, superintendent of the state farm, is not

ATLANTA'S GROWTH PRAISED BY BRITON

Atlanta's rapidly-rising skyline has drawn admiring and surprised comment from J. J. Atkinson, general manager of the Royal Insurance Company, Limited, of Liverpool, England, who is here visiting the branch office before leaving for Chicago. It was his first visit to Atlanta in six years. "Atlanta has made remarkable progress since I was last here," the visiting Briton declared. "A general growth of the city is in full evidence. It is easy to credit the large increase in population reported to have taken place."

The executive of one of the world's largest insurance companies, with offices in most of the principal cities on the globe, spent much of his time with Milton Dargan, Sr., manager of the Atlanta branch. He expects to sail for Australia on December 15, in the meantime visiting Chicago, San Francisco, Vancouver and other points on this continent.

On his way down from New York, Mr. Atkinson was struck by the growth of industry in the south and the wealth of crops.

"You have abundant crops," he stated, "and while your large cotton crop is difficult to handle, there is no doubt that the foresight of the people of this country will be able to deal with the problem successfully."

Local Mail Carriers Walk 219,300 Miles In Past 4 Months

Mail carriers in Atlanta have walked a sufficient number of miles in the past four months to circle the globe more than eight times, according to estimates given out Thursday from the office of the superintendent of carriers. Approximately 219,300 miles have been covered by the 116 residential section mail carriers and the 42 city carriers. Estimates were made on the basis of 102 working days in the last four months up to November 1. The statement estimated that residential mail carriers walked between 16 and 25 miles each day and that downtown carriers averaged about seven miles in making rounds of business houses and office buildings.

HEATH ELECTED HEAD OF BOTANICAL BODY

Eugene S. Heath was elected president of the newly organized Georgia Botanical society at its meeting November 22, according to announcement made Thursday, when the society took its first field trip through the Peachtree road and Silver Springs sections, starting from the Oglethorpe university station.

Other officers elected at the meeting were Dr. W. B. Baker, of Emory university, fourth vice president; M. C. Rutts, treasurer, and Miss Elsie Shover, secretary. The first three vice presidents will be chosen at a later meeting. It was stated.

FUNERAL SERVICES OF MRS. WINN TODAY

Funeral services for Mrs. Mary Richardson Winn, 46, beloved resident of Lithia Springs, who died Wednesday at the residence, will be conducted at 10 o'clock this morning from the Lithia Springs Methodist church. She is survived by her husband, Pat H. Winn; two daughters, Misses Anna and Ellen Winn; a sister, Mrs. Leila Wheat, and four brothers, R. E. Richardson, of Atlanta; H. H. Richardson, of College Park; Olin Richardson, of Omaha, Texas, and S. H. Richardson, of Lithia Springs.

The early bird

THE early bird catches the Christmas spirit and gets the annual problem of his mind as soon as possible. I want to feed the early bird this palatable suggestion: Give flashlights!

Everybody, from six to sixty, has hundreds of uses for a good flashlight in and around the house, the car, the garage. It rolls back the mantle of night with its bright, white beam.

Give flashlights, by all means, but be certain they are genuine Evereadys. Then everybody'll be happy. —(adv.)

RAWLINGS MUST SERVE LIFE TERM SENTENCE

C. G. Rawlings, former Sandersville banker, must serve a life sentence in the state prison following his conviction of complicity in the killing of G. A. Tarbutton, according to a decision handed down Thursday by the Georgia supreme court. Rawlings had sought a new trial on the ground that a new panel of jurors was called in his case after recess in the court, and contended that the old panel should have been exhausted before the new panel was called. The trial court overruled this plea, and its decision was upheld by the supreme court.

In the same decision, the supreme court denied a new trial to J. J. Tanner, jointly indicted with Rawlings and also sentenced to serve a life term in prison.

Tarbutton was a business associate of Rawlings and his life was heavily insured in Rawlings' favor. The killing occurred on a farm located in Johnson county where Rawlings, Tarbutton and Tanner went to inspect a bauxite deposit. The trial took place in Johnson county.

Cold Wave Seen Saturday, Preceded By Rains Today

Showers and thunderstorms with a rise of temperature were scheduled for Atlanta and vicinity today to precede the sharp drop in temperature which will mark the beginning of a cold wave due Saturday, according to the forecast of the local weather bureau.

The temperature range Thursday was from 62 to 59 degrees, while the predicted maximum temperature for today is 78 degrees with 68 for low. Rain and strong southerly winds were expected to accompany the rise in temperature today, with the mercury descending Friday night to a point below freezing by Saturday morning.

INSTITUTE OBSERVES THANKSGIVING DAY

Thanksgiving exercises were held in the chapel of the Holmes institute Thursday afternoon. The program was featured by songs and recitations by the students. The principal address was delivered by the Rev. E. K. Holmes, president of the institute.

Rev. Holmes said "the management of the Holmes institute was very thankful for the progress it has made since it was organized, and thanks the white and colored citizens in Atlanta and other sections of the United States for the moral and financial support they have given the institute by making it possible for the worthy colored youth of the south to receive a useful education which will fit them for the duties of life."

"The colored people of the south should be thankful for living in the south among their best friends who have always helped them in all their efforts to make the race and country better."

MARTIN WILL PREACH FIRST SERMON SUNDAY

The Rev. J. Kell Martin, new pastor of the Capitol View Presbyterian church, will deliver his first sermon in his new position at the Sunday morning service hour. The Rev. Martin came to Atlanta from pastorate in Pennsylvania and is well known in Presbyterian circles of the nation.

Tower to Protect Five Counties From Forest Fire

The Homerville Protective Association of Homerville, Clinch county, will erect a 400-foot steel watch tower in a large pine forest in that county which will be used to detect forest fires, it was announced Thursday by B. M. Lufburrow, state forester. The tower is located in the heart of a large forest which yields turpentine and other naval stores.

Plans for the tower were outlined to the department of forestry by Alex Sessions, of Homerville, member of the state forestry board. The tower will afford views through the telescope in the counties of Clinch, Ware, Atkinson, Echols and Lanier. The tower will be manned by a lookout and later will be connected by telephone to all parts of the forest area.

Atlanta's Mother Passes in Augusta After Brief Illness

News of the death in Augusta Monday of Mrs. Florence Lyles Cunningham, 66, has been received in Atlanta by her daughter, Mrs. George Shearer, of Peachtree place.

Mrs. Cunningham died after a brief illness at her Augusta home and the body was taken to Greenville, S. C., her girlhood home, for funeral services and interment on Wednesday.

Mrs. Cunningham was a member of a pioneer southern family, a member and an active participant in Baptist church affairs.

She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Shearer of Atlanta, and Mrs. R. Jones Thomas, of Augusta, and one son, J. P. Cunningham, of Omaha, Neb.

New Auxiliary Bus Goes Into Operation For Center Hillites

A new auxiliary bus service for residents of Center Hill will be placed in operation Saturday morning. It was announced Thursday by the Georgia Railway and Power company.

The bus will connect with the river car line at the intersection of the son and Turner road to the Bolton road, a distance of approximately two miles. It will maintain a regular schedule on week days, except during the noon hours. The bus will not operate on Sundays.

The fare will be 10 cents, with the privilege of transferring from the bus to the street car and transferring again from the river line to any other line, if desired. A transfer from the street car plus three cents will be accepted as fare in continuing a journey from the street car on the bus. For residents of the community desiring to use the bus service alone, and not transfer to the street car, the fare will be 5 cents.

This auxiliary service to the rapidly growing Center Hill residential district is the third feeder bus line the company has inaugurated. For some time bus services connecting with the street cars have been operating in Sylvan Hills and the Atlanta avenue section, adjacent to Grant park.

30,000 MASONS DEDICATE TEMPLE

Detroit, November 25.—(AP)—The largest gathering of Master Masons assembled since 1014 B. C., when Hiram, king of Tyre, summoned 150,000 of the ancient craft to aid in the construction of the temple of Solomon, king of Israel, was here today to assist in the dedication of the largest Masonic temple in the world.

There were 30,000 Master Masons and hundreds of white-plumed Knight Templars and red-tipped Shriners here for a parade from the old temple to the splendid new temple. The Rev. Joseph Fort Newton, pastor of St. Paul's Memorial church, Philadelphia, was selected to deliver the address. The dedication of the $7,000,000 structure marks the 100th anniversary of grand lodge Masonry in Michigan. Visitors from all parts of the world have declared the new temple unsurpassed in its beauty of design and conformance to rules laid down in Masonry.

MORE THAN 15 DEAD IN ARKANSAS STORM

12-year-old child and 21-year-old son, at Oppelo.

A Mrs. Jones, Oppelo. The injured included Dr. Harkness, hurt at Belleville, when his home was blown away; four slightly hurt near Oppelo; several of the Lybrand family injured near Sheridan, and the two others slightly injured at Belleville.

MANY BELIEVED DEAD AT HEBER SPRINGS.

Helena, Ark., November 25.—(AP)—Fifteen bodies have been recovered and many more are believed dead at Heber Springs from tonight's tornado. W. H. Strickland, local telegraph operator of the Missouri and North Arkansas railroad, was told tonight by the railroad telegrapher at Heber Springs, "Lights are out. It is raining hard. The wind still blows. Everything is in uproar and confusion." The Heber Springs operator said in broken conversation over the troubled wires. Two relief trains have been sent out from Kensett, Arkansas, junction point on the M. and N. A. to the stricken area, the Heber Springs and Helena operators had heard in reports on their wire.

FIVE REPORTED DEAD AT ARKANSAS TOWN.

Memphis, Tenn., November 25.—(AP)—Five persons were killed in a tornado which early tonight swept down on Oppelo, Ark., a little town seven miles southwest of Morrilton. Conway county, tonight, a telephone message received here from Morrilton asserted. Seven were reported injured in the blow.

The dead at Oppelo are: Jake Stafford, 46. Mrs. Stafford, his wife, 30. Their 10-year-old daughter. James Jones, 25. Mrs. J. W. Jones, 55. Three of the injured were said to be seriously hurt.

Five dwelling houses and five barns were blown away by the twister at Oppelo, according to The Commercial Appeal's correspondent at Morrilton. The tornado was confined to a small area, this report said; and apparently did not do extensive property damage.

Frederick, Okla., November 25.—One person was killed and three others were injured probably fatally by a 50-mile-an-hour wind and sand storm which swept over southwestern Oklahoma late today, causing heavy damage to property and crops. The storm centered near here, destroying about $40,000 worth of property, including the Mitchell Ginning company's warehouse which caught fire at the height of the gale.

John Ballard, a carpenter, was killed when the gale struck the Frederick cotton mill where he was working. Three fellow workmen were injured.

TWO PERSONS KILLED IN COMPETITION, MO.

Lebanon, Mo., November 25.—(AP)—Two persons were killed and many were injured at Competition, 25 miles southeast of here, tonight when a tornado struck the town, according to word received here.

The dead: W. I. Pittswhite, 35, a rural mail carrier; Claude White, 30, a farmer.

THREE PERSONS KILLED AND TWENTY INJURED.

Brandeville, Mo., November 25.—(AP)—Three persons were killed and more than 20 injured when a tornado struck here early tonight. Practically every business building, a church and the Brandeville community hall were destroyed.

Call for aid to West Plains brought all available physicians and nurses. The dead and injured were taken to West Plains. The dead: Mrs. Lula Hartz, of Brandeville; small son of Fred Lile, of Brandeville; John Johnson, of Thayer, Mo.

The tornado came from the south and is supposed to be the "tail end" of the Arkansas tornado in which at least 23 persons were killed.

Citizens of Brandeville received short notice of the approaching storm. Many were enjoying Thanksgiving dinners when a roar was heard. Within a few seconds all was in disorder. Cries for help were heard above the wind, and many homes were entirely destroyed. Several of the injured were not expected to live through the night. Johnson was returning to Thayer when the storm caught him. His car was completely wrecked and his body crushed.

EIGHT PERSONS KILLED IN ARKANSAS TOWN.

Pine Bluff, Ark., November 25.—Eight persons are known dead and 30 more are injured as a result of a freak tornado that swept through Moscow, a small community 10 miles south of here, late today, according to reports.

One dead baby has been brought here and seven more are en route here. All available ambulances and hearses in the city have been sent to the scene. Property damage at Moscow is said to be heavy.

MAINE GOVERNOR HITS CANDIDATE

Field, chairman of the republican state committee, in explanation of his failure to take the platform for Mr. Gould during the present campaign. "These expenditures," said the governor's letter, "undoubtedly played an important part in his success. He now states that these were made in his behalf by his friends without his knowledge or consent. Such expenditure of the knowledge or consent of a candidate are expressly forbidden under the provisions of our statutes and a penalty of $500 is imposed for each offense. The nominee accordingly has profited very materially by the wholesale criminal acts of his friends and is exactly in the position of a man who is receiving stolen goods."

Charges that Mr. Gould's expenditures during the recent republican primary were in excess of the legal limit of $1,500 will come up for hearing before the secretary of state here tomorrow. These were filed by the Rev. A. F. Leigh, of Randolph, prominent in the affairs of the Ku Klux Klan in Maine.

Mr. Gould is opposed for election by Fulton J. Redman, democrat. The special election, to be held next Monday, was made necessary by the death of Senator Bert M. Fernald.

COMMITTEE IS READY TO INVESTIGATE CASE.

Los Angeles, November 25.—(AP)—The United States senate campaign funds committee undoubtedly will investigate alleged excessive expenditures in obtaining the republican nomination for United States senator in Maine for Arthur R. Gould if formal complaint is made to the committee, one of its members, Senator William H. King, democrat, of Utah, declared here today.

ISADORA DUNCAN HOME IS SEIZED, SOLD AT AUCTION

Paris, November 25.—(AP)—Isadora Duncan's home in Neuilly, a rather fashionable Parisian suburb, was put under the auctioneer's hammer today, the place having been confiscated because of a debt of 10,000 francs remaining unpaid by the dancer.

Miss Duncan said the mortgages were foreclosed and the property was confiscated recently while she was in Russia, and under the law she was unable to get hold of it after her return.

It brought 310,000 francs at today's auction. The buyer's name was not announced. Miss Duncan bought the property in 1908 and before the war conducted a salon there to which many notables were drawn.

GORE IS GRANTED STAY OF EXECUTION

Ed A. Stephens, assistant solicitor general, stated Thursday night that action of Judge Park would act only as a delay and that Mr. Boykin and his assistants would prosecute the case vigorously, combating any effort on the part of Gore's attorneys to prevent the sentence being carried out. He branded the motion on which the stay of sentence was based as "a last minute effort to snatch one of the greatest offenders from justice."

Mr. Stephens declared he could not say whether there is any legal merit in the claim that Mr. Dunnaway is not the state warden and therefore not qualified under the law to carry out the execution. He said, however, that if such a defect in the Georgia law really exists, steps to correct it should be initiated at once.

The rule nisi granted by Judge Park orders Captain B. H. Dunnaway, state superintendent of the penitentiary, to show by what authority he was proceeding to execute Gore.

W. A. James and Reuben Garland, defense attorneys, also signed the petition.

ACTION IN FEDERAL COURT WAS PLANNED.

While Louis Maritz, attorney for Mr. Gore, who was sentenced to death today in the electric chair at Milledgeville, was in Macon Thursday night in a last-hour effort to save Gore from the chair, word was received in Atlanta that Judge J. B. Park of the Ocmulgee circuit, Georgia superior court, had granted a temporary injunction staying the execution. The petition for an injunction was signed by Linton S. James, Louis Maritz, W. A. James and Reuben Garland.

Maritz had gone to Macon in an effort to secure a federal injunction restraining the state from executing the condemned youth. It was learned later, however, that Judge W. T. Tilson, of the middle Georgia judicial district, was in Atlanta and will not return to Macon until Saturday.

The petition prepared for presentation to the judge of the middle Georgia federal judicial circuit is based on the contention that the state law requires that a condemned prisoner be executed by the "warden of the state prison," and sets forth the contention that Captain B. H. Dunnaway, superintendent of the state farm, is not a "warden" in the sense in the written in the law. The petition was prepared by Louis Maritz, one of Gore's attorneys, who left Atlanta for Macon to present it to the judge.

Macon advices were to the effect that no action had been taken in the federal courts there, and that the petition had not been presented Thursday night.

Last Letter From Wife.

A letter from Mrs. Gore to her husband, written while she still believed he would die today, was received late Thursday by an Atlanta woman who has worked in Gore's behalf and who declared that she would do everything in her power to transmit the message to Gore.

The letter follows:

"Dearest One—I will only pray and ask God in heaven to let you escape the chair. Please let me know something. I will not write much and in haste. I have worked, prayed and everything. I am always yours. 'I hope to meet you in heaven if you do go.'"

The message to Gore was inclosed in a letter thanking the Atlanta woman for her many kindnesses and her efforts to save the condemned man from the electric chair.

It was announced by Attorney Maritz that, in going to Macon, he would seek an injunction and also a habeas corpus for Gore in federal court on the contention that Gore was denied his constitutional rights through action of the trial court in refusing to recognize newly-discovered evidence as outlined in an extraordinary motion for new trial, and because the supreme court declined to grant Gore a mandamus nisi requiring the judge to recognize such newly-discovered evidence.

New Trial Refused.

Gore's attorneys filed their motion for new trial before Judge John D. Humphries, of Fulton superior court, Wednesday. Judge Humphries declined to enter it and also refused to sign a bill of exceptions. The case then was taken to the supreme court, and that body declined to issue a mandamus nisi requiring Judge Humphries to enter the petition and sign the bill of exceptions.

Gore was convicted of complicity in the killing of W. H. Cheek, Buckhead grocer, last Christmas. The shooting occurred during an attempt to rob Cheek's store. Gore, together with Jack Wilson, Theodore Berry and Ruby Ray, a girl, were accused of robbery and murder. It was contended at the trial that the shot that killed Cheek was fired by Jack Wilson, who has not been captured. Theodore Berry was convicted of complicity in the killing and sentenced to serve a life term in the state prison. Ruby Ray was convicted of being an accessory after the fact and was sentenced to serve ten years.

Solicitor General John A. Boykin, of Fulton county superior court, is out of the city and will not return until Saturday, it was announced Thursday night. He could not be reached for a statement concerning the stay of execution.

ORDER SERVED ON DUNAWAY.

Milledgeville, Ga., November 25.—(AP)—The order restraining Judge B. H. Dunnaway, superintendent of the state farm, from carrying out the execution of Mel Gore, which was scheduled to take place some time tomorrow and signed by Judge James B. Park, and the attorneys of the convicted man, Reuben Garland, W. A. James and L. S. Maritz, was served on Dunnaway at his home at the state farm at 10:30 o'clock tonight by B. L. Terry, sheriff of Baldwin county. Judge Dunnaway said tonight that he will get in touch with members of the prison commission as soon as possible notifying the members of the order signed by Judge Park and will then await further orders from the commission.

ent. Some of the differences are tangible enough and easily described: fortunately the indescribable element is so obvious that words are not needed.

To the professional player his body is a financial asset, to be guarded as much as possible from physical injury; to the university man it is a something to be offered up in a spirit of pious devotion without thought of the consequences. There is the same difference in England between rugby—the amateur game and, by the same token, parent of American football—and "soccer."

As for the crowd, in one case it goes to watch the play, often with little or no participation of a few skillful men grouped under some fanciful title; in the other, there is an interest and intensity of feeling only to be described by a much overworked phrase, "esprit de corps."

Cheer Leaders—Curious Species.

The crowd is a fascinating study; but any calm examination of the wild people that fill the stands at such a game as yesterday's is only possible to the outsider; it is his compensation for losing the alternate exaltation and depression suffered by the partisan. The stranger must first be struck by the "roving" element and that curious species, the cheer leader. Long before anything else, they catch the eye and the ear. There is nothing like them in my country—or any other. Within the American football would be something else. They are curiously impressive; the sound of many voices in unison could be nothing else; but just as one imagines that the full effect is about to be produced they suddenly become ridiculous, only to be saved a few seconds later by some peculiarly resonant roar. So they go on, alternating the ridiculous and impressive—to the outsider. The cheer leaders look consistently ridiculous, but one accepts them as necessary to the organization that is the secret of the whole business.

Annoying Habit.

The American habit of standing up when some exciting piece of play is in progress is, to at least one Englishman, striking, inexplicable and annoying. One either has to stand up also, or be present with a very fine view of several thousand backs. But there is a reason somewhere. I suppose. The faces are a joy; when the game is even, expressions are uniformly riven and tense; any advantage gained by one side produces several thousand interpretations of woe in one section with the delicious contrast hard at hand of a myriad infections of delight from goggle-eyed, currenmoutherd hysteria to silent going; not many of the latter, though. Occasionally, the clash is not limited to expressions; I saw several satisfactory fights yesterday.

Danger of Professionalism.

The game itself is truly fascinating; fascinating with all the primitive excitement attached to the personal encounter of vigorous and pugnacious young animals (the word carries no derogation), and fascinating with the subtle possibilities of tactics and good generalship. Played hard, with its own peculiar but evident code of sportsmanship, there can be no better game in the world.

I have not yet discovered whether it teaches the greatest lesson of all—the spirit that the playing of the game comes first and the winning of it second; that a game loser is better than an easy winner. But I think so, even though I have seen players in tears over the result. The game has obvious come to stay. Only, I know this; that on the day that it becomes unduly commercialized and no longer the freshness and usefulness that is its glory today, it will be possible for those who know a little of America to realize that for the first time in her history she has stepped back rather than forward.

Elephant Trumpets Last Call

TWO DAYS REMAIN TO ENTER CONTEST

To Make Bid for Big Awards

Last call!
Final opportunity!
Thanksgiving's over and gone and only two full days remain in The Constitution's great elephant puzzle game for contestants to enter and for all participants to qualify their solutions.

Will you make your bid for Christmas prosperity this morning, either by getting into the game for an intensive, lightning calculation of the weight of the famous mathematical elephant or by submitting and qualifying the solution you have already prepared?

There's ample time for those who wish to enter today, to go through the simple process of adding the figures that compose the elephant. That's all that is involved in the contest—a child could solve the problem.

Whether you're new or old in the contest, however, the thing of prime importance now is to qualify your solution properly. Don't wait until the last minute, which is midnight of Saturday night. Something might happen to prevent you from qualifying your answer to the puzzle, so play safe and submit your solution today.

In this issue you'll find a display advertisement carrying the picture of the elephant and giving detailed rules of the event. If you're just entering the game, be sure to turn to it. If you're an old contestant, it wouldn't be amiss to read the rules governing qualification of solutions.

Don't fail to qualify. It may cost you big money.
The size of the prize you win will depend upon the closeness of your figures to the correct weight of the elephant. A three-month subscription to The Daily and Sunday Constitution, $2.50 with the winning answer, will only pay you $200. A six-month subscription, $5, sent in with the winning solution, will pay $500. A 12-month subscription, $9.50, will pay $1,000, and a 12-month subscription, $9.50, together with two new six-month subscriptions at $5 each, total $19.50, will make you eligible to receive the capital prize of $2,000.

LAST SERVICES HELD FOR WILLIAM COMPTON

Funeral services for William Compton, 16, of 303 Third street, Decatur, popular Decatur High school student, who died Wednesday at a private sanitarium following an operation, were conducted Thursday morning from the Oakhurst Presbyterian church. The Rev. P. A. Mickle officiated and interment was in the Decatur cemetery.

INHERITANCE LEVY DECISION ANNOUNCED

The supreme court Thursday handed down a decision holding that the estates of persons who died prior to enactment of the law imposing an inheritance tax, but whose assessments were not made until after passage of this law, are not subject to this tax. Several cases now pending before the state tax commissioners are affected by the ruling.

In its decision, the supreme court held that the law contained a clause providing that it should not be a retroactive law. The decision was handed down in a case appealed by Ordinary McAlpin, of Chatham county.

"Y. W." Hiking Club To Climb Mountain Sunday Afternoon

Mrs. Elizabeth Reamer, head of the Y. W. C. A. Hiking club, announces that the hike to Kennesaw mountain, which was postponed on account of the rain, and will take place Sunday, November 28.

All members of the hiking club will meet at Walton street at the station to catch the Marietta car. This will be a supper hike, and members are requested to bring their supper, including bread and a cup in each individual box. The committee headed by Miss Katherine Culbertson will provide hot chocolate, coffee and baked beans.

The hike will be up Kennesaw mountain, led by an expert guide. The party expects to be back in town by 8 o'clock at night.

Those desirous of joining the hiking club may obtain further information by calling the Y. W. C. A. headquarters, 21 West Baker, Washington, D. C.

not 6640. Mrs. Reamer, who is director of health education and the instigator of the hiking club, will give full particulars of membership and of this special hike.

LAST RITES TODAY FOR HENRY JACKSON

Funeral services for Henry S. Jackson, well-known former Atlantan, who died Tuesday at Johns Hopkins hospital in Baltimore, will be held this morning from the home of his brother-in-law, Robert F. Maddox, on Pace's Ferry road. The Rev. Samuel T. Senter, of the First Methodist church, will officiate and interment will be in Oakland cemetery.

Mr. Jackson is survived by his widow; one son, Howell E. Jackson, of New York; one daughter, Mrs. Bula Jackson Alsop, of Washington, D. C.; three brothers, Howell Jackson and Harding Jackson, both of Nashville, Tenn., and Judge William Jackson, of Bogota, Colombia; also two sisters, Mrs. Hill McAllister and Mrs. M. Buckley, both of Nashville, Tennessee.

Revival at Bainbridge.

Bainbridge, Ga., November 25.—(Special.)—The Christian church here began a series of meetings Wednesday night with Elder Homer Davis and Professor B. R. Bassel, Texas evangelists, in charge of the service. Professor Bassel is in charge of the music. Work will be done during the day in the schools and in the city it is said by the evangelists.

$200,000 BLAZE HITS MACON FIRMS

Macon, Ga., November 25.—(AP)—Fire that originated in a building on Broadway occupied by a vulcanizing company gutted five buildings this morning at an early hour, doing damage estimated at more than $200,000. The fire was in a business section and firemen had difficulty in checking it.

The Williams Manufacturing company officials estimate their damage at $100,000, partially insured. The other places destroyed and badly damaged were: James Tire & Vulcanizing company, Southern Bell Telephone company warehouse, Macon Cigar & Tobacco company and the Hupp Brothers overall plant.

The loss will be heavy, as some of the places were only partially covered by insurance.

BUILDING AND LOAN HEARINGS ON TODAY

While the Georgia securities commission delayed action Wednesday after hearing an appeal for endorsement of building and loan activities, leaders in the Georgia Building and Loan league are gathering statistics and otherwise planning to be able to show the tremendous value of such enterprises.

The commission decided to delay action until today at the hour Wednesday when the hearing was scheduled. George West, president, and Horace Russell, secretary of the state building and loan body, appeared before the securities body and sought to obtain official recognition of that body of the merits of building and loan organizations and approval of the intensive advertising and publicity campaign which will continue throughout Georgia until the close of Building and Loan week, on December 18.

J. W. Vaughn, of Cartersville, chairman of the state executive committee for the campaign, on Thursday announced the appointment of Milton Fleetwood, editor of The Cartersville News-Tribune, as publicity chairman for Georgia for the campaign. Fleetwood is one of the best-known and most capable newspapermen in the state, and under his direction the campaign is assured of effective and, at the same time, worthy advertising.

Under the plan outlined to the state securities commission, building and loan association leaders contemplate a campaign to acquaint the public with the activities of such organizations and the value to members of such groups in building up communities, developing community spirit and institutions and in otherwise strengthening thrift ideas over the country.

At the hearing before the state securities body it is expected that leaders in the move will go exhaustively into the matter.

PIANISTS WILL GIVE RECITAL FOR BLIND

Rosita Renard, pianist, and Hugh Holston, another well-known artist, will appear in a concert Tuesday night at the Wesley Memorial church, under the auspices of the Georgia Association of Workers for the Blind. Proceeds of the recital will go toward a fund to assist in the building of an industrial training school and permanent employment shop for the blind who cannot obtain profitable work elsewhere.

The idea of inauguration of the workshop is to train and give employment to blind men and women who desire to work and to help solve the problem of the street beggar, it is said.

The beggars, at least most of them, will gladly leave the streets if some other means of a livelihood can be pointed out to them. Most blind persons lose their sight after passing school age and there is as yet no provision in Georgia for helping such people to become self-reliant, it is pointed out.

Tickets for the concert may be obtained at the Phillips and Crew Piano company.

COURT RULING ON BOOTLEG CARS BLOW AT TRAFFIC

The ruling of the United States supreme court that automobiles engaged in transporting whisky may be confiscated even if there happens to be liens against them, after passing toward slowing up liquor traffic, in the opinion of W. T. Day, prohibition director for the northern Georgia district.

Mr. Day stated that federal officers assisted by state and city officials have seized 270 cars in the last 13 months, and that about 90 per cent of this number have been returned to dealers who appeared with liens held against cars. The latest decision of the high court will effectively check this, Mr. Day believes, and greatly aid in curtailing illicit "hisky running."

"Up to the present time," Mr. Day said, "a whisky runner could buy a car for a small payment down and if he ran through a few loads he had more than made his initial payment. It suited the dealers in that they got a few payments on the car and the automobile was returned if seized."

The new ruling of the court will make it hard for any but a reputable person to buy an automobile on the partial payment plan and will force the bootleggers, most of whom are well known, to pay cash for their automobiles. When their cars are caught now they will represent a real loss to the whisky runner and make the business unprofitable to a great many of them."

ABSOLUTE SATISFACTION OR YOUR MONEY BACK

FOG IN 3 NATIONS CAUSES 3 DEATHS

BY CHARLES M. MCCANN.

London, November 25.—From the British Isles to the River Elbe in Germany Europeans groped their way about today in a fog which was the worst many sections had experienced in scores of years.

While London was hidden under a yellow haze which turned to black in the evening, outlying places in this country suffered almost complete obscurity.

There were three fatalities in England, one just outside London, one at Rugby and one at Leicester.

In Paris those who visited the boulevard cafes in honor of St. Catherine's day were forced to move slowly or be bowled over by push cart men or other lost pedestrians. Hamburg reported that all shipping was tied up as the result of the murky haze which hung over the river Elbe.

London Traffic Halting

In London vehicle traffic was either halted or creeping through the streets. Trucks, taxicabs and horse carts moved about cautiously but could not avoid accidents. Privately owned automobiles remained in the garages.

Eight hundred tons of smoke was imprisoned by the fog over 400 square miles of the London area. Low clouds aided by an absence of wind made traffic disorganization practically complete.

Ambulances hurrying to emergency calls were held up and patients waited on operating tables for surgeons to make their way to hospitals. Physicians called to attend the dying were delayed in the traffic as were others.

Curiosity Leads To Valuable Discovery

Away back in 1076—exactly two hundred and fifty years ago—an English physician's curiosity led to a discovery which should be of particular interest to every human being.

His attention was drawn to the wonderful effect and results produced by drinking the water of a certain spring in that country, the properties and action of which he traced to the presence of a mineral salt known as sulphate of magnesia, which it was observed possessed remarkable powers of attraction for water; in so far that, when enclosed in a bladder and submerged, water passed through the membrane into the bladder.

In the human system its action was found to be identical. Water and superfluous fluids are drawn from the organism into the intestines thereby increasing their insatiable thirst-like action enough to induce a prompt elimination of all the stagnant waste matter which frequently accumulates (even though the bowels move regularly), and whose presence invariably causes a heavy, sluggish, nervous feeling and lack of energy.

It can be seen from the above that sulphate of magnesia is more physical in its action than chemical and is therefore not absorbed by any extent. For this reason alone it is recorded by physicians as the most valuable of all internal cleansing agents.

This substance, in complex molecular form, constitutes the principal active ingredient of "Magnex," a safe, prompt and efficient preparation for eliminating body wastes and the relief of constipation without unpleasant after-effects, embarrassment or interference with daily business and social activities.

Insist on "Magnex." At all druggists, 50¢ and 25¢. Get a bottle today.—(adv.)

Milton C. Work's Pointer On How To Play Bridge

(Milton C. Work, the international bridge authority, will answer your auction bridge questions. A stamped self-addressed envelope must accompany each request for replies.)

Continuing today the answers to questions most frequently asked by correspondents, we have:

Easy aces, minority honors: In their anxiety to make additions to their scores, many players cling to the notion that, one side scoring three of four honors, the other may sound something for their two or one; or that when the aces are divided, each side scores 20 points for its two.

last line of law 30 closes this debate: "One or two honors held by a side are not counted."

Aces and faces: Of all the hardy evergreens in the forest of bridge errors, this is the hardest, the greenest and the "everest." The bridge humorists have rung innumerable changes upon it; for the last hundred years, every form of ridicule, abuse and remonstrance has been leveled upon those who come forward to ask about it, but all in vain. Each year new questioners want to know "how weak your hand must be to entitle you to a new deal."

The pointer for today is the same as yesterday's, viz: Familiarize yourself with the laws of the game and play in accordance with them.

(Copyright, 1926, for The Constitution.)

five might be entitled to honorable mention for his curio, but he would have to play the hand.

Doubling and redoubling: Many wish to know whether under certain conditions (the conditions named varying greatly) doubling or redoubling is permitted. There is no form of the game of auction bridge in which both the double and redouble are not important factors; neither is ever barred.

Which player is declarer? This always can be determined by finding the correct answers to two simple questions: Which side made the highest bid and obtained the contract? Which partner of that side first named the suit or no trump which the contract designates? The answer to the second question is the name of the player who is declarer, and declarer's partner is the dummy. In the following the star (*) designates declarer.

Mussolini Plans Liners To Cross Ocean in 4 Days

Rome, November 25.—Premier Mussolini is planning a conquest of the Atlantic ocean.

Within 18 months the Italian dictator believes two Italian ships—the Rex and the Dux—will set a new speed record between Europe and the United States by spanning the Atlantic in four days.

The two ships, Mussolini declared, will revolutionize the construction of mercantile and naval vessels. The Italian marine secret will permit development of unusual speed, but the details of which the premier himself cannot explain, is responsible for the proud boast of the Italian dictator.

Two Ships Planned.

"We have two ships planned, each of from 35,000 to 40,000 tons, which will make the voyage from Cherbourg to New York in four days," said Mussolini in an interview with United News.

The trip from Italy will be made in five, and the one from New York to Buenos Aires will take only seven.

He admitted that the established northern steamship lines would receive stiff competition from the Italian craft, one of which will be begun shortly.

"They will have a minimum of vibration," said the premier, who has watched with keenest interest the building up of Italy's merchant marine under his direction.

"They will cut the water like arrows and make at least 40 knots an hour."

Mussolini said there would be only one class on the new liners which will be marked by the democracy exercised in their management, although they will be palatial liners and will cost approximately $10,000,000 each.

Speed Is Secret.

"The great speed these vessels will develop is an Italian marine secret and will be made possible by a new arrangement of power units," he said, adding, "but I am not an engineer and cannot explain the plans in detail."

Asked regarding the new invention's effect on merchant and naval ships of the future, he agreed that it would change the construction of these vessels of the future entirely.

"Dreadnaughts can have lighter armor and greater gun power," he said. But returning quickly to the passenger traffic for which the Rex and Dux are planned, he added, "elimination of vibration will enable passengers to enjoy a voyage with a minimum of seasickness and may solve that unpleasant problem completely."

PLEA OF MARCONI BACKED BY WIFE

Rome, November 25.—(AP)—One of the reasons for the plea by William Marconi, noted wireless inventor, for annulment of his marriage to Beatrice O'Brien is to please his former wife, who desires to solemnize in the Catholic church her marriage to the Marquis Marignoli.

Senator Marconi and his wife obtained a civil divorce at Fiume, their being the last case acted on under Hungarian law before the city was annexed to Italy. Later the former Signora Marconi married the Marquis Marignoli, with whom she lives at his magnificent villa at Spoleto.

The inventor tonight categorically denied the statement published in an Italian newspaper that he had dismissed the annulment question during his audience with the pope yesterday.

The audience, he said, was occupied almost entirely with scientific subjects, the pontiff taking the keenest interest in the latest radio developments. They also discussed mountain climbing, of which sport Marconi was formerly an enthusiastic follower.

Marconi also denied the declaration that he had instituted the annulment proceedings because he desired to marry a young English girl who has been assisting him in his scientific work, as well as a rumor that he wished to marry a Roman society woman.

Marconi's former wife is a daughter of the 14th Baron Inchiquin, of Ireland. The civil divorce was granted in 1924. Three children were born of the union.

The curia of Westminster, London, however, has refused for a decree of nullity and granted it. The sacred rota in Rome must now pass on the Westminster decision.

Marconi's wife, Beatrice O'Brien, was married to him before the wedding Marconi and his bride agreed that they would separate whenever they so wished. Marriage, according to the curia, being a sacrament, being from its very nature indissoluble, such a condition would make the Marconi marriage null in fact.

Federal Route 19
Is Now Certainly,
Officially Announced

Success in the campaign to extend the highway known as Federal route No. 19 from Niagara to Atlanta, which was being waged by the Appalachian Scenic Highway association, was reached by announcement Wednesday that the new route had been established.

Cornel Rivick, secretary of the Bluefields, W. Va., Chamber of Commerce, who was active in assisting Roscoe A. Marvel, of Asheville, president of the Highway association, made the announcement after receiving a telegram from the Bluefields chamber to that effect. Commenting on the success of the association he stated that "this is a stimulus to the success of the six states affected failed to approve the route project it would automatically have been killed."

Members of the Aeronautical Society of America greeted them at the battery, hailing the British aviator as a pioneer.

Many passengers on the Homeric voiced indignation that they had missed their trains and Thanksgiving dinners due to the ship's three hours delay in docking to enable Sir Alan and Lady Cobham aboard the tug.

The homes entered were those of Mrs. A. G. Cummer and her son, Waldo E. Cummer.

Listed among the missing articles of jewelry were a diamond ring and two pearl bracelets. Other articles included rings with precious stones, watches and a small amount of cash.

The Cummer family, reputed among the wealthiest in the south, has extensive property holdings all over Florida.

Value of National Dairy Show to South Is Shown In Opinions of Leaders

Fair Association Seeks To Have 1927 Exposition
Held in This City Next Fall.

If the Southeastern Fair association can secure the National Dairy show for Atlanta in 1927 it will mean practically a new birth for agriculture in south Georgia. It was asserted Thursday by Judge Stanley S. Bennett, of Quitman, Ga., member of the state highway commission, representing the south Georgia division.

The executive committee of the fair association, at its meeting Wednesday, voted to make a determined effort to secure the show for Atlanta during the first week of October, 1927. Mell R. Wilkinson, former president of the fair association, underwrote a $25,000 fund necessary for preliminary expenses. A committee composed of Ivan E. Allen, chairman of the Forward Atlanta Advertising campaign; Judge John S. Candler, Guernsey leader; Arthur L. Brooks, president of the fair and regional governor of Kiwanis; H. G. Hastings, officer of the Georgia association and former president of the fair, and Oscar Mills, executive vice president of the fair, was named to attend the national convention in Chicago Monday to make Atlanta's bid for the 1927 show.

"South Georgia's fertile soil and salubrious climate are especially adapted to the dairy industry and experiments with dairying on a small scale in various parts of the section have proved that it could surpass Wisconsin or any other great dairying region if sufficient production could be developed to enable establishment of satisfactory marketing methods for dairy products in south Georgia," Judge Bennett asserted.

The judge said that he had worked for years with others in south Georgia in an effort to encourage dairying on a commercial scale, but that all efforts had pointed to the conclusion that the dairy industry cannot be started on a small scale and gradually developed into a great business.

"The cream and other dairy products cannot be produced profitably without home markets and establishment of home markets requires investment of hundreds of thousands and even millions of dollars in expensive dairy, creamery and cheese-making machinery," the judge explained. "We have not been able to find an philanthropist in the south, nor may we expect to find one, who will provide the markets and then wait until the production increases to a point where their operation will be profitable. The only hope for making Georgia the great dairy state it should be is to have such a stimulus as the National Dairy show would be, to result in wholesale purchases of dairy cattle and large scale investments in the necessary marketing plants and facilities, all to be made within the same year's time."

"I have no doubt in my own mind, and my opinion is supported by the opinions of others who have studied the situation, that this metamorphosis of Georgia agriculture actually could be accomplished, and could be accomplished this coming year, through the National Dairy show," Judge Bennett said.

Not a mystery—just a mixture of two old and well-known kitchen helps: washing soda and ammonia. It will do anything that either one of these will do alone, and do it better. Wonderful for cleaning tiles, sinks and linoleums, and it will cut the grease from your pots and pans.

CHILD OF STREETS ADOPTED BY MARY, QUEEN OF BRITAIN

London, November 25.—A child of the London streets has been adopted by Queen Mary.

The boy, whose Christian name is Arthur, was dazed when the authorities at one of the homes of the Church of England's Society for Waifs told him that he had been chosen for adoption by a queen. His companions crowded about him, seeking to touch the hand of the lad who after today will be looked upon as a young god by many of his play fellows.

The queen has assumed all responsibility for Arthur's education and will select the schools he will attend and his future home.

Keith's Georgia.

Keith's Georgia theater program offers an excellent bill headed by that famous stage and screen star, Charles De Roche, in a playlet, "A Parisian Thrill," in which he has an opportunity to portray several characterizations. He is ably supported by a company of three, including Lillian Lory, Florence Tivoli and Harry S. McLaughlin. Second honors go to the Shaw-Carroll revue, and the dancing of Carl Shaw and Jean Carroll elicit rounds of applause. Redmond and Wells provide laughter with their skit, "The Gyp." Four excellent voices go to make up the Croon-adara, while the Davys round out this well-balanced bill with a juggling act. The screen entertainment is provided by Rod LaRocque in "Gigolo."

The Rialto.

"Laddie," the feature motion picture at the Rialto theater this week has been popular because of the delightful bits of humor it portrays. Gene Stratton Porter's intimate knowledge of the Bible was never better illustrated than in the delightfully funny bits in the little middle-west church where Leon, the imp of the Stanton family, recites the Bible quotations he has learned. "Laddie" is accompanied by a screen picture of the story told to the grand jury and the press of her alleged kidnapping last May by Aimee Semple McPherson.

Loew's Grand.

Headed by elongated "Jim" Toney, assisted by Ann Norman as headline attractions, the bill of vaudeville at Loew's Grand theater this week is one of the most pleasing of the year. Toney is a rare comedian and features a funny eccentric dance. Another gem act on the bill is the dancing revue of Willis and MacFarlane and the "Dancing Pirates." Other popular acts are Cook and Vernon in a funny skit with songs; West, Gates and Hanes, singers and dancers; and Achilles and Newman, in a novelty act. Pauline Starke and Antonio Moreno are stars in "Love's Blindness."

Tenth Street Theater.

Playing its last times today at the Tenth Street theater is one of the great films made by a star who has by virtue of her performance by her for many months with a local stock company, Belle Bennett. "The Reckless Lady" is the name of her vehicle and in it Belle Bennett does the remarkable work that gains for her national prominence in "Stella Dallas." "The Reckless Lady" is the story of a mother who turns to the gaming tables as a means of supporting her daughter when all other plans fail. Lois Moran, youthful star, is seen in support of Miss Bennett.

The Howard.

Sunday night at 12:01 a. m. or one minute past midnight, the Howard will give its greatest midnight matinee, presenting as the feature attraction Gilda Gray, radiant star of Ziegfeld's Follies, in person, and in her first motion-picture sensation, "Aloma of the South Seas." On the stage Gilda will appear with a company of 25, including the beautiful hula girls and Prince Lei Loni's Royal Samoans, doing the South Sea dances that made her famous.

Tickets for the midnight matinee are now on sale at the Howard theater box office and we suggest the early purchase of tickets due to the fact that the show will draw all attendance records on her previous visit to this city.

The Howard.

Wallace Beery and Raymond Hatton have a new expression, "It's 'Hit the Deck'." The pair who ludicrously stumbled at the command of "Fall in" when they enacted roles as dumb doughboys in "Behind the Front," launch a boat load of laughs in their new Paramount sea-going comedy vehicle, "We're in the Navy Now," which is playing at the Howard theater this week. In the blue bell-bottom trousers of the United States navy, Beery and Hatton enact the funny side of a soldier's life under Edward Sutherland's capable direction.

John Murray Anderson's elaborate production, "Milady's Shawl," is this week's public stage presentation. The Mitchell Brothers, singing banjoists, appear as an added stage feature.

The Metropolitan.

Crowded houses are in attendance at each performance this week at the Metropolitan theater, where Associated First National is presenting Colleen Moore in her latest, "It Must Be Love." The picture is replete with humor of the kind that turns on the tear traps immediately thereafter.

because of its sheer adherence to life. Malcolm MacGregor and Jean Herscholt are the featured players in support. "Subway Sadie," in which Dorothy Macknail and Jack Mulhall are being starred, is here next week.

Fairfax Theater.

Without the pomp and heraldry of a Broadway success but proving good a play and as good a drawing card as any Belasco show in recent months, "Loyalty" is standing 'em up at the Fairfax, then standing the best show alongside for good measure.

Never has a show proved its merit more conclusively than Dr. Walpole Brewer's fine war drama—a drama with a lot of human nature, a fine plot, a greater lesson and as fine a thread of love and romance as ever was witnessed here.

Fourth Players are having a great week in a new play and theatergoers are having just as good a time.

West End Theater.

Marie Prevost, the star of many an entertaining comedy, is featured in "Up in Mable's Room," which is the screen offering at the West End theater today. "Up in Mable's Room" is a French farce and consequently with little or no story to depend on. The film is composed of a series of hilarious and comical events which follow on each other's heels in rapid succession. It is one of the best light comedy features of the current year.

Tudor.

Rin Tin Tin, premier dog star, does splendid work in his latest picture, "Clash of the Wolves," which is being shown now at the Tudor. In "Clash of the Wolves" the dog actor portrays the role of a wolf, tamed and domesticated through love of his master, thrown back into the wilds to run again with the wolf pack, and to fight and tear his way back to leadership; coming back into the man's life, though, in a time of dire need.

Blues singing, of that inimitable brand that only Bessie Smith can produce, and comedy will be the chief characteristics of the big midnight frolic show tonight at 10:45 at the 81 Theater on Decatur street. Bessie Smith is playing with her own company, "Harlem Frolics," and she personally selected every member of the cast and so, knowing the high standards that Bessie sets for herself, we can be sure of a rip-snorting time at the frolic. Bessie Smith has been heard on the 81 stage several times before and each time she played to a full house and consequently this will serve as a word to the wise to rush down to the theater or to Chess' place at Five Points and get a pair of the few good seats left for the frolic.

Diana Scott, comedian extraordinaire of the colored musical comedy world, is the second big headliner on the bill. Scott is the central character around which all the reams of fresh, new and delightful comedy that characterizes the show is woven. He is the foil for all the clever, witty, cynical and puns that are a part of Bessie Smith's company. A large jazz orchestra is also another feature of the show that is sure to please. In fact there are so many features of headline merit that it is impossible to mention even a part of them. So remember this: tonight at 10:45 at 81 Decatur street, for the biggest time you have ever had in your life.

Stimulants Sold By Book Concern, But Not Potable

New York, November 25.—An embarrassed bootlegger backed out of a book shop in Brooklyn and wrote a new chapter in his diary.

"That's one for the book," he mumbled to himself, and assembling his scattered wits, went his way to other customers.

The enterprising beer and whiskey merchant was attracted to the shop by a window sign which read: "We will sell stimulants—but without the law. Watch for our opening." "I see you are going to sell stimulants," he essayed. "I represent a large house."

"Stimulants for the mind," said the lady shopkeeper and handed him a volume of philosophy.

"Excuse me, I thought—well, anyway my house handles non-intoxicating stimulants," stuttered the B. and W. merchant.

Win $2,000 CASH—No One Has a Better Chance Than YOU

THE PROBLEM:

What is the sum total of the figures forming the elephant? Simply add them up to get the solution.

There are no marks, lines or characters in the elephant except figures. These figures range from 2 to 9 each standing alone. There are no "ones" or "ciphers." There are no groups of figures such as "23" or "42." The heads of the "6's" are distinctly curved, while the tails of the "9's" are straight, or practically so. There is no trick or illusion of any description in the chart.

General Rules of The Contest

1. All bona fide residents of Georgia and adjoining states, meaning Alabama, Florida, North Carolina, South Carolina, east and middle Tennessee, may take part in this contest, except employees of The Atlanta Constitution, members of their families, and those who have won first and second awards in similar contest conducted by The Constitution.

2. Contestants may submit as many different solutions as they desire, provided payment of one of the four amounts designated in the award list shall accompany each solution, but no contestant will be permitted to win more than one award. Once registered a solution cannot be changed.

3. The Atlanta Constitution offers these awards for individual effort. While it is proper for members of one household to work together, or several friends, it is not permissible for one person to take part in the solution of the puzzle, and the amount of money paid for subscriptions and return the solution it is believed has been submitted contrary to the rules.

4. The Atlanta Constitution is to decide all questions which may arise and are not covered by the published rules, and those entering the contest agree to abide by such decisions and accept them as final and conclusive.

5. Solutions must be mailed or delivered to the Atlanta Constitution office on or before 9 o'clock Saturday, November 27, 1926. Solutions sent by mail bearing postmark of that date will be accepted, if rules governing same are complied with. This contest closes on Sunday, October 17, 1926, and including Saturday, November 27, 1926. Seven days will be given thereafter for those who have not fully qualified for the larger award to do so, after which no further qualifying remittances will be accepted.

6. In case of tie, as many awards will be reserved as there are people tied. Before any awards are awarded for less correct solutions another puzzle will be submitted to those tied. If two or more people should tie on the last solution, the first two or more awards will be reserved for them, and they will be awarded in the order of the standing of their solutions of the second puzzle. If tie results in as many as five tie-breaking puzzles will be used, after which should tie result, each contestant will receive the full value of the prize tied for.

7. This contest is open to both new and old subscribers alike. The regular subscription rate of $2.50 for three months, $5.00 for six months, and $10.00 for a year, for the daily and Sunday Constitution will prevail. Daily only subscriptions not accepted in this contest. Full amount of subscription must be remitted in every instance. When sent through an agent no commission can be deducted. In column five of prize list, six months new subscriptions referred to means someone who is not now taking the daily and Sunday Constitution, directly or indirectly, and has not within the sixty days, and such new six months subscriptions must be confined to Georgia or adjoining states.

8. A person who is now taking the daily and Sunday Constitution and paying the subscription rate of three, six or twelve months may send or bring directly to The Constitution office, or through an agent, the amount of such subscription. Whatever is due such carrier, dealer or agent, must be paid to him, as the remittance sent will date from the date it is received. The carrier or agent will be notified by The Constitution of such advance payment. If all arrearages are not paid the solution will not be considered valid. Remittance on mail subscription will be extended for the length of time paid for from the present paid date of expiration.

Deciding Ties—If Any

Actual Size, 11x7 inches.

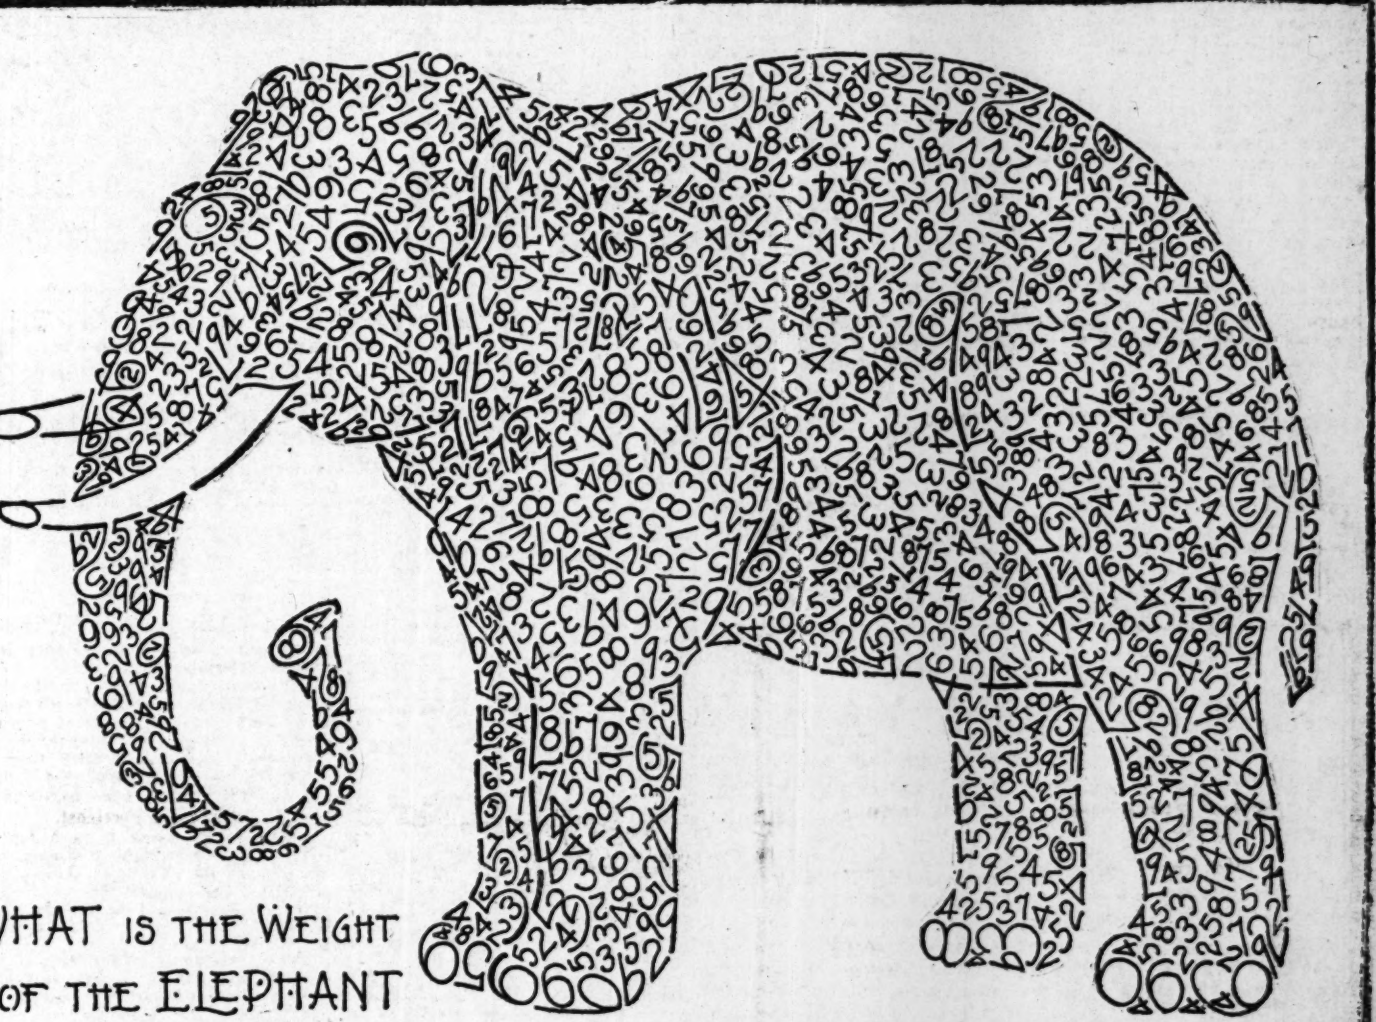

In case of tie those tied for any prize will be presented with a second puzzle, which will consist of drawing a line across the face of a chart of figures, like the accompanying chart, only larger, so that the figures thus connected when added together will total the greatest sum. If necessary this chart will be used five times, after which, should any tie remain, each contestant will receive full value of any prize tied for.

In case there are no ties on counting the elephant no other puzzle, of course, will be awarded.

CLOSING DATE

The Great ELEPHANT PUZZLE CONTEST will close 9:00 P. M., Saturday, November 27, 1926.

The earlier you send in your solution, the longer time you will have to go over your figures and send in another solution IF YOU FIND YOU CAN DO BETTER. Additional charts may be secured by calling at the Circulation Department, or sending a self-addressed stamped envelope for mailing them.

No Solution Can Be Changed After It Has Been Once Registered

IMPORTANT FACTS TO REMEMBER

While the amount you pay with a solution of the puzzle does not have any effect on your winning an award, it does affect the amount you will receive should you win one of the first nine awards, as the value of these awards is determined by what the winners pay. This is explained in the award list, which you should study carefully before sending in your solution.

The time a solution is received has no bearing upon its winning an award. Accuracy is what counts. Not more than one award will be awarded to any one person. ADDRESS SOLUTIONS, INQUIRIES, ETC., TO:

SCENES FROM TECH-AUBURN TURKEY DAY GAME

Tech, Alabama End Season With Decisive Victories

Bulldogs Swamped Under 33-to-6 Score By Crimson Warriors

Line Play of Crimson Proves Too Stiff For Invading Red and Black Gridders — Georgia Scores Only Touchdown in Last of Hectic Battle.

BIRMINGHAM, ALA., November 25. — The big Crimson Wave from Tuscaloosa, headed by Hoyt Winslett, Red Barnes and Archie Taylor, made it four in a row over Kid Woodruff's band from Athens at Rickwood field here this afternoon, but there was a flicker of light in the gloom that spread over the Georgia stands as the Bulldogs tallied the first touchdown they have scored on Alabama in four years on the last play of today's game. For three years the boys from Athens have crossed the state line and lugged back zeros. This trip they got away with six points and if it wasn't enough to bring victory it was, anyway, a start toward better things.

Alabama flashed a powerful offense and a line that often smeared the plays behind the Georgia wall. The Crimson defense was superb and Wallace Wade's forward wall has never functioned better since he began tutoring these big red boys from Tuscaloosa. Alabama played a brilliant brand of football to beat the Woodruff band and Georgia, though beaten, never once let the Tide forget it was in the football game to the finish. Alabama repulsed every offensive threat of the Bulldog machine and it appeared that the goose-egg jinx had again been dropped in the Georgia camp. That is, it did until the fourth period was everything but spent.

The score came about when Messrs. Nash and Curran smashed through the Crimson line and blocked a punt started from the toe of Jimmy Johnston.

Harry Holder had but a moment before stopped a threatening Georgia march by intercepting a forward pass on the Crimson 15-yard line and Johnston, who was running the Alabama team, dropped back to boot the ball up the field. The two Bulldog forwards mentioned sifted through the Crimson wall, however, and the leather met upstretched Georgia arms. It bounced on back, past the Alabama goal stripe and after the pole was uncovered, Curran, Bulldog flankman was found in full and complete possession of the ball. As Georgia stands immediately began an impromptu move to nominate him for the next governor, the score board boy hung up the first Georgia score on Alabama since the year 1922.

In the 50 minutes and some odd seconds of play preceding the Georgia tally, Alabama had driven over five touchdowns and a safety. Two of the

ATLANTA U., MOREHOUSE IN SCORELESS TIE

BY J. C. CHUNN.

Before one of the largest crowds of the season, estimated at over 3,000, Morris Brown and Atlanta University battled to a 0-0 tie in their annual clash at Spiller field Thanksgiving. The game was a nip-and-tuck affair from start to finish, both teams on many occasions going near the goal line, only to find a reinforced line that held. The prediction made before the game that it would be two evenly-matched elevens was verified with yesterday's performance.

Clarke, fighting halfback of Morris Brown, was the outstanding star for the local eleven, always on top of every play, and whose intercepting of two forward passes saved a defeat for his eleven.

Coach Johnson, mentor of the Morris Brown outfit, was pleased with the showing his eleven made against the strong Atlanta University team, while Coach Aikens, of the opposing eleven, was gratified with his pupils in making it all square with the undefeated conference team.

The coaches of both teams questioned the decisions of the referee on several plays, two or three of which prevented touchdowns, but there were no bickerings to delay the game, which was played unusually fast for a rain-soaked field.

MOREHOUSE WINS FROM FISKE

In one of the closest games of the season, Morehouse university, of Atlanta, galloped home to victory by a one-point margin over Fiske university, of Nashville, here on Thanksgiving before a large crowd of spectators. The final score was 7 to 6.

The performance of Archer and Deason, for Morehouse, was the outstanding feature of the clash, won the game almost single-handed when they completed a triple pass for 43 yards in the second quarter, with Deason racing the remaining 33 yards for a touchdown. Archer then made the extra point which later proved the margin of victory.

HAWK-EYE-ING SPORTS

BY DICK HAWKINS.

Six of Georgia Tech's regulars warbled their swan song of college football at Grant field Thursday, and it was an heroic anthem crowned by victory against their hereditary enemies from Auburn. Beside Captain Poole, Mack Tharpe, Johnny Marshall, Tom Angley, Carter Barron and Sam Murray, also ended their service with the Tiger game.

Even the last stand of Red Barron, whose comrades bore him from the field of battle in the first few minutes of play, had a touch of that spirit which is found only on the college gridiron.

Red Barron went into that game knowing that he would probably come out on the arms of his teammates, yet he did not flinch, and while he was in the game he played with an abandon born of desperation.

He knew that any time he was tackled from the side the strained ligaments in that knee would revolt under the strain, but that knowledge did not keep Red Barron from smashing into the Auburn tackler with all his strength.

Many football players would have revolted against the nemesis of hard luck that has been pursuing Barron just when he seemed to have reached the apex of his football career—not so Carter. He did his best and when he was borne from the field, his face flushed with the pain and an unwelcome tear in his eye. The roar of applause which greeted him was not a mere clapping of hands, but a sincere tribute to a great football player who has done much to make the name of Barron famous on the gridiron.

As is usually the case in the last game of the season, many substitutes were given a last chance to earn their letter by participating in the play. The result was that not one of the graduating players finished the game, but there was not one of the seniors who did not distinguish himself in his last effort.

Despite the fact that the first half of the game was played under the shadow of Tornado errors, the last half made up for the misplays, and the graduating players can be proud of their last effort.

The figures give Tech a decided advantage in every department of the game in the second half, though Auburn chalked up seven first downs in the first half to five for Tech. In the

TIDE CLINCHES DIXIE TITLE IN LAST GAME

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

Thanksgiving day saw the curtain fall on the 1926 southern conference football stage and the University of Alabama, occupying the center with her conference championship Crimson Tide, now is considering a curtain call in the form of an encore engagement for the tournament of roses festival New Year's day at Pasadena, Calif. The Turkey day victory of Alabama over the Bulldogs from the University of Georgia, 33 to 6, virtually assures acceptance of the California invitation, as soon as the southern conference gives permission, a foregone conclusion.

Alabama's decisive trouncing of the Red and Black not only gained them a three-year record of no defeats as well as their third conference championship in as many years, but also left them among the mere handful of teams undefeated in the national football season.

Among the runners-up to Alabama in conference standing as the curtain fell the University of Tennessee held attention with its one touchdown margin over the University of Kentucky, as did Vanderbilt with a 13 to 0 win over Sewanee's Tigers who held Alabama in midseason to a 2 to 0 victory. The University of Mississippi for the first time in 14 years defeated their rivals, the Mississippi Aggies, 7 to 6, and for the first time in three years the Generals, of Washington and Lee did not taste defeat at the hands of the Florida Alligators.

The score, however, was but a 7-7 draw and offered but another of the season's upsets as Florida was overwhelmingly defeated by Georgia while W. & L. has tied Princeton and beaten Maryland, the conquerors of Yale.

Eight conference teams, Vanderbilt, Sewanee, Kentucky, Georgia Tech, Louisiana State, Florida, Mississippi Aggies, and Georgia, have fallen before the attack of the charges of Wallace Wade. In addition the lads from

Yellow Jackets Beat Auburn Tigers, 20-7, In Turkey Day Tilt

Invading Eleven Grabs Early Lead in First Half But Crumbles Under Attack of Jackets—Barron Knocked Out in First Few Minutes of Play—Reed Stars.

AUBURN, ALA., November 25. — The first half was as heart-breaking for the Tech fans as the second half was thrilling. The Jackets started four marches to the Auburn goal and each time a fumble nipped the advance. The heads-up football of the Tigers turned each one of these fumbles into a decided advantage.

In the first half it was Auburn's game by virtue of Tech's mistakes more than by her own offensive power, though the lone Tiger touchdown was the result of a 30-yard march across the goal after Nelson had carried the initial kickoff to Tech's 30-yard line.

A queer trick of fate in the form of a reinjured knee took Carter Barron, star of Tech's backfield, from the game on the arms of his fellow players, before the first quarter was well under way. Bo Head, who ran in Barron's place in the last three periods, covered himself with glory and no one will begrudge the little Marietta halfback the credit that is due him but seeing Red Barron carried from his last game at Tech brought a lump to the throat of more than one spectator.

Stars Are Taken Out.
Captain Owen Pool, Alternate Captain Mack Tharpe, Johnny Marshall, Sam Murray and Tom Angley, as well as Barron played their last game under the colors of Georgia Tech Thursday. None of them were on the field at the end of the game, because of the fact that Coach Alex sent in a string of substitutes after the game was "on ice" for Tech.

Auburn got off to an auspicious start when Nelson, Tiger quarter, grabbed the initial kick-off and raced 70 yards to Tech's 20-yard line. Nelson galloped to a first down and then a Tech fumble was recovered by the Tigers for a 6-yard gain, placing the ball on Tech's 6-yard line. A Tech penalty for off-sides cut the distance to one yard on the next play and Fisher bucked it over for a touchdown. Ingram's attempt to kick goal after

Centenary Gentlemen Swamp Petrels, 56 to 7

Shreveport, La., November 25.—(Special).—The Centenary Gentlemen won the S. I. A. A. championship this afternoon when they swept the Oglethorpe Petrels aside by a series of end runs and forward passes. The score was 56 to 7, the Gents making all their points in the second and third quarters, after the visitors had scored in the first few minutes of play. In the second and third quarters Oglethorpe was on the defense throughout. In the final quarter they threatened to score, but with the ball on Centenary's 20-yard line they lost the pigskin when Beam intercepted a pass.

Centenary made 17 first downs to Oglethorpe's seven and completed four passes to the enemy's two. Touchdowns came in a rapid-fire order in the second and third quarters and the enemy was baffled by the attack. About 6,000 persons saw the game.

The Petrels missed the great Cy Bell in their backfield though Campbell, Sheppard and Garlington did their best against the stonewall line of the Gentlemen.

Time after time the shifty plays of Oglethorpe backs were nipped in the bud when some Centenary lineemen broke through to make a tackle behind the line of scrimmage.

Petrels Score.
Oglethorpe's only marker came early in the first period when a pass from Vaughn to Chestnut placed the ball on Centenary's 10-yard line and Campbell kicked right end for 10 yards and a touchdown. Campbell kicked goal for the extra point.

After this early lead by the Petrels the game was all Centenary's. The passing attack launched by the Gentlemen of Shreveport was an unsolvable riddle for the Petrels and one touchdown followed another so rapidly as the result of passes and end runs that the visitors were completely befuddled.

Hamel, Beam and Rebsamen led the attack for the Gentlemen while Campbell, Taliaferro, Chestnut, Sheppard and Vaughn, all held the limelight for the visitors.

touchdown was low but the point was counted when Tech was offside. Auburn then kicked off to Tech and Murray, Barron and Horn stacked up three first downs in succession only to lose the advantage of the gains when Horn fumbled and Auburn recovered.

Fisher Runs 14 Yards.

Fisher ripped off a 14-yard run for first down but the Golden line stiffened and Ingram was forced to try a placement kick from the 47-yard line. The kick fell short and the ball went to Tech on its own 20-yard line.

Parham on a fake punt, ran the ball around right end for 50 yards but fumbled when he was tackled and Auburn recovered to nip another Tech scoring drive.

Auburn then made first down on the next two plays but again the Tech line held, and after two passes had been batted down by the Jacket secondary, Ingram again tried a goal from placement and missed.

The ball went over and a pass from Parham to Horn netted 33 yards and first down. The Tornado seemed to have found itself again but on the fourth play the ball was knocked from under Parham's arm and Auburn recovered.

The Tigers were forced to punt and it was again Tech's ball but Murray failed to grab a rather wild pass from center and Auburn again recovered. Their advantage was short lived, however, as Ingram fumbled after catching a long pass from Fisher and Brewer recovered on Tech's 20-yard line.

Read's Sensational Run.
Bo Read was sent in to replace Horn, Barron's immediate substitute who was hurt on a line play and the speedy Marietta dashed off tackle for 79 yards and a touchdown. John Marshall aided in the sensational run by shoudering off an Auburn secondary man while four other Tech men followed on Read's heels to dispose of any trailing Tigers.

It was a brilliant run, and of the type which is so sudden as to defy description. Read took the ball on his first play, and started off tackle and the next thing apparent was Read racing down the field ahead of all pursuers, for a touchdown. There may be some one who says that field goal is just how the run was made but we must admit that it just looked to us like too much Read. Smith's attempt for the extra point failed and the half ended shortly after with the score 7 to 6 in favor of the visitors.

Just what was said or what was not said to the Jackets in the dressing room between halves is not known to us but it is certain that a Tornado replaced a wavering breeze when the second half opened.

Ingram kicked off to Murray and the Jackets began a march that piled up five first downs and a touchdown. Read made the counter on a 15-yard dash off tackle. Smith kicked the point after touchdown and the whole atmosphere of the game was changed. The score was 13 to 7 with the Jackets on the long end and it was evident that Tech must certainly score again.

Jackets Score Again.

Following the second Tech touchdown the ball saw-sawed back and forth around the center of the field until the end of the quarter and in the last period the Jackets again scored in the first few minutes of play. A pass from Smith to Brewer carried the ball 30 yards to Auburn's 4-yard line and after Murray had cut the distance to two yards Smith circled right end for a touchdown and also made the extra point with a perfect drop kick.

This ended the scoring and to all intents and purposes ended the game. The last few minutes were devoid of thrills. Auburn opened a passing attack which over their total of passing attempts to 20 but they were only able to complete short heaves, the long passes going wild.

Tech threatened to score in the last few minutes on passes to the goal line but they were incomplete and the game ended with the Tornado a victor in the last game of the 1926 season which has been one of ups and downs for the Gold and White.

utes of play and served as an indicator that the Crimson Tide was right. Hoyt Winslett bucked over the first within five minutes after the firing started and shortly thereafter Captain Lovely Barnes scored the final touchdown of his four-year conference career.

In the third period Archie Taylor, the Savannah boy with the 12-cylinder six pointers came in the first 12 minutes, came into the fray for a short romp and before he went out again after the annual stanza was under way he had accounted for two touchdowns. The first one came on a pass for the good right hand of Hoyt Winslett, the ebullient Davidson, while his second trip across the Georgia goal resulted after he had outrun the en-fire Athens ensemble for a distance of 42 yards.

The safety was registered by Georgia just afterwards and the final Crimson marker of the day was accounted for by Jimmy Johnston, who snared himself a Georgia pass on the Bulldog 20-yard pass and won a race with Curran to the goal line.

He dropped the point later, the only singleton after a touchdown that was registered all day. Caldwell having failed to chalk his cue on the four attempts. In contrast to these point-making excursions engineered by the Crimson-shirted troupe, the Georgians were able to carry the oval within the Alabama 40-yard line but twice. On one occasion the invaders were checked after reaching the Crimson 33-yard stripe and on the second march, just before the blocked punt brought a score. The Athenians passed and ran their way to Alabama's 35-yard line. On a previous sally Georgia maneuvered the ball to the Crimson 40. But on none of their three offensive spurts did the Bulldogs threaten the Alabama goal. The points named being where the ball either went over after four downs or under Parham's arm and Auburn recovered.

While the first down totals—eight for Alabama and seven for Georgia—are very near a standoff, the Crimson offensive had the knack of functioning when in enemy territory, while the Bulldogs' attack crumpled up when it reached Alabama ground. Georgia had but two possible scoring chances while, Alabama all told, had seven.

Standing out brilliantly in the afternoon's activities was Alabama's sturdy forward wall. From end to end the seven starting forwards performed with a consistency that must have been terribly discouraging to the Georgia ball carriers. Plays were smothered before they ever got under way and time after time Alabama forwards were through and on the man with the ball before he even had time to take a look around to see what had become of his interference. Fred Pickard and Cupid Perry, two tackles, put on as scintillating a show as has been witnessed in the conference this season. Hagler and Pearce, the sophomore guards, were but a stride behind, while Sherlock Holmes, in the middle, and Messrs. Winslett and Enis on the flanks, footballed with especial fervor throughout the furious 60 minutes.

Captain Emile Barnes, playing his last time within the conference, led his men to a glowing victory with one of the finest bursts of football he has displayed this season.

Winslett Great.

The good throwing arm of Hoyt Winslett catapulted the Crimson passes with all the finesse that it has directed them throughout the fall campaign. Red Brown, younger brother of Johnny Mack, sprinted around the Bulldogs flanks for neat gains on many occasions and impressed upon the lads from the neighboring state the fact that the name of Brown and the word speed are somewhat synonymous. Herschel Caldwell, the bareheaded whirlwind, performed with all of the brilliance he has displayed in the nine games this fall. Herschel covered Barnes' punts in magnificent style, making the majority of the tackles after Crimson kicks. Archie Taylor, his hand handicapped from a hurt received in October, exhibited his fleetness on several occasions to the complete consternation of the invading group.

Captain George Morton was the mainstay of the Bulldog attack and, with Kain, Sperlock and Dudley, accounted for the Bulldog yardage. Morton was hampered in starting because of the hard charging Alabama forwards and on the majority of the occasions he was covered before he could get up full steam. Despite this fact, however, the Bulldog flash tore away for a number of healthy gains and was ever a threat in the Georgia attack. He received punts on the dead run and yanked several back for good gains. Dudley, who succeeded him near the close, also proved fleet of hoof and he was the big gun in the final Bulldog spurt that gave the Tide its biggest scare. His gains were directly responsible for the Bulldogs pushing the Tide back to where, after an intercepted pass the blocking of the punt accounted for the score.

In the line Luckie, the mountainous Georgia tackle, stood out all the way. He tackled well and he led the charges that several times resulted in Crimson losses. Curran and Nash also flashed well at times, while Rogers also played consistently during the time he was in. The frequent substituting of Georgia was somewhat confusing in keeping tabs on just who was who in the Georgia lineup. The Georgia mentor used some 18 men in addition to his starting eleven, some of them taking second trips back into the fray.

second half Tech made 10 first downs and Auburn made three, one of these being accounted for by a Tech penalty.

Tech's passing game which showed so great an improvement in the Georgia game was better than that of Auburn. Tech completed three heaves out of six tried for a total gain of 79 yards while Auburn completed but five out of 20 for a gain of 40 yards.

Nelson and Moulton, of Auburn, punted six times for an average of approximately 37 yards, while Parham, Brewer and Smith punted nine times for an average of approximately 38 yards.

By virtue of his long run of 79 yards, Bo Read led the Tech ground gainers and Fisher gained the bulk of ground from scrimmage for Auburn. Barron, Smith, Parham, Horn, Murray, Jamieson, Brewer and McRae all carried the ball one or more times for the Tornado and Nelson, Ellis and Allen all aided the Tiger attack from the line of scrimmage.

The showing made by the Tech team when virtually every senior had been taken out of the game and all of them out of the backfield, speaks well for the chances of Tech next year and the year after.

At any rate, the seniors at Tech will leave the gridiron with the knowledge that the gold and white will be carried on through the season to come by the underclassmen who were their teammates this season.

MARTYR TO PAIN FOR 16 YEARS

Finds relief after spending much money in vain

After spending a great deal of money on medicines without results, a woman who had suffered from a long-standing case of rheumatism, got quick and complete relief by a simple home treatment.

"I have suffered from rheumatism for 16 years and I have spent a great deal of money in trying to get something which would ease the pain," she writes. "I am grateful to say that in Sloan's Liniment I have found instant relief."

Sloan's helps when other remedies fail because Sloan's doesn't just deaden the nerves. It stirs up the bodily forces to throw off the poisons that are causing the pain. Then relief comes as a natural consequence.

So easy, pleasant and clean to use, too. You don't even have to rub it in. Just apply gently, and the medicine brings the relief.

FURMAN WINS S. CAROLINA GRID TITLE

Greenville, S. C., November 25.—(AP).—Furman's Purple Hurricane won the South Carolina football championship here today on a muddy field, by smothering the Clemson Tiger, 20 to 0, in a game featured by a sensational 45-yard field goal late in the final quarter.

Clemson, not conceding an outside chance for victory before the game, was outclassed in every department of play, and the Baptists used more players and a wider variety of plays than they have displayed in any other game this season, scoring in every period.

Pipkins' Big Score.

Pipkins, with three touchdowns and three extra points, shared scoring honors with Frank Davis, substituting at quarter for Rawls, who with a few minutes to play stepped back to Clemson's 45-yard line and drop-kicked a beautiful field goal.

Society Continues To Celebrate Holiday With Social Gayeties

With the passing of Thanksgiving day, society continues its celebration with a whirl of informal parties. Remaining visitors and college belles who are home for the holidays are central figures in these delightful, gay events.

Among the affairs of today centering the attention of the college set is the reception at which the Mothers' auxiliary of Emory university will entertain members of the Sigma Pi fraternity at the East Lake Country club and the charity dance at which the Phi Pi sorority of Washington seminary will entertain at the Garber hall.

Of interest to organized women is the birthday tea at which Mrs. Fred Hodgson will honor members of the Atlanta League of Women Voters this afternoon at her beautiful home, "Wildwoods," on Clifton road. The opening of the bazaar at Habersham hall, which is sponsored by the Joseph Habersham chapter, D. A. R., will occasion much enthusiasm and a large number will visit the bazaar during the day.

Elaborate arrangements have been made for the innumerable tea parties to be given this afternoon at the Atlanta Woman's club. A delightful program of music and the presence of attractive visitors will be interesting features of the occasion.

Biltmore Dinner-Dance Features Many Visitors

The Thanksgiving dinner-dance at the Atlanta Biltmore hotel was one of the largest and most brilliant ever given at the hotel. The affair was held in the Georgian ballroom from 8:30 until 12 o'clock. The room was especially decorated in rich green foliage and variegated chrysanthemums. There were present a number of Atlanta society, the college and younger set and prominent guests from Georgia and Alabama who attended the Tech-Auburn game.

Mr. and Mrs. Jeff D. Hunt entertained in compliment to Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Richardson, and Mr. and Mrs.

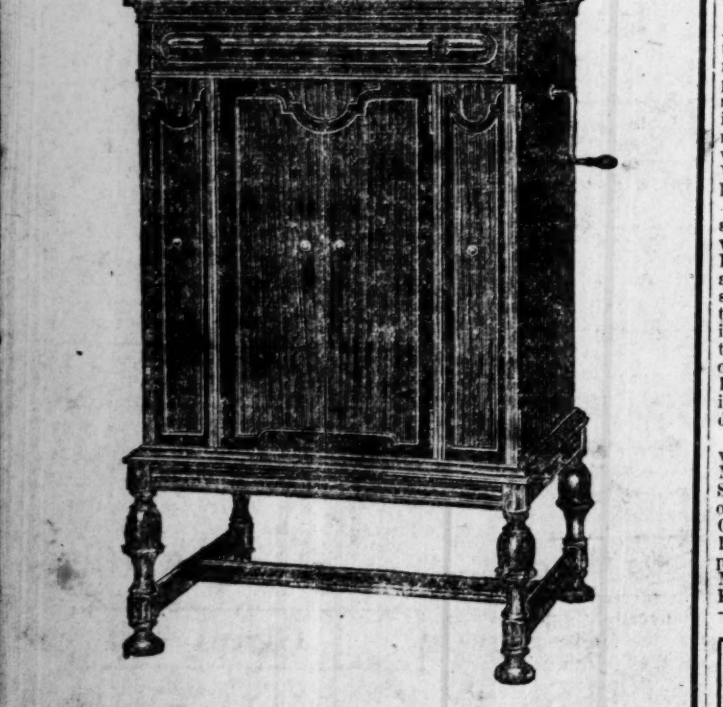

Tell-tale Wrinkles, Rings and Lines Removed

Restore Youthful Skin This Quick, Easy Way No longer need any woman endure the embarrassment of flabby face muscles, lines and wrinkles, says Marie Nick, famous beauty specialist. Thanks to her discovery—Marsha Tissue Creme, you can quickly erase those tell-tale wrinkles which ravish youth and beauty. Deep creases in the face, lines about the eyes, fine and shadowy hollows disappear as if by magic. In their place returns your smooth radiant skin of youthful fineness.

Marsha Tissue Creme acts not only on the surface as do ordinary creams but penetrates deeply into the pores and throws off all the dust and grime which irritate the skin. Its antiseptic, healing and invigorating natural oils assist nature in its work of nourishing and building up the tissues. Thus it removes those deeply imbedded impurities which cause wrinkles.

Sent with the invitations were novel enclosures which are expected to be returned at once either to league headquarters, 356 Canfield Annex, or to Mrs. Fred Hodgson at her home. Mrs. Hodgson urges all members to ligate these returned before the party. Cars will meet the street cars at 4 o'clock of the line between 3 and 4 o'clock.

Monument Will Be Unveiled Saturday In Author's Grove

The monument that is being erected in the authors grove, Piedmont park, by a number of local women's organizations and individuals, will be unveiled Saturday afternoon, November 27, at 2 o'clock, at the site in the center of the grove, at Thirteenth street and Piedmont avenue. If weather conditions are not favorable to outdoor exercises, the unveiling of the monument, will provide a shelter.

This event is of interest to the organizations having trees in the grove, to students of literature and to those seeking to make Atlanta "The Cultural Center of the South," and a cordial invitation is extended to every citizen and to all state, county and city officials and the public in general.

The granite shaft is the gift of an Atlanta, Colonel C. J. Haden, and the bronze tablet, bearing the names and the names of those that planted the memorial trees, was designed by Mrs. Julia Evans Cope, the inspiration for the monument. The motto, "The Creative Instinct Is Divine," originated in the brain of Dr. W. F. Melton, president of the Atlanta Writers' club.

The site selected for the monument and the plan for its erection was the work of the expert L. E. Crook, of Troy and Crook, architects. The durable concrete foundation and the designing of a new entrance at Thirteenth street and the four walks leading to the monument from each section of the park, is the efficient work of the Atlanta park commissioner, L. L. Wallis. The veiling of the tablet, the workmanship of Mr. Mackey, decorator of the M. Rich company. Those taking part in the program will be Dr. Carter Helm Jones, Misses Charlotte King and Laura Smith, Dr. W. F. Melton, president of Writers' club; Mrs. W. P. Womble, Colonel James Nevin, Mrs. W. A. Robertson, Mrs. W. B. Price-Smith, president Atlanta Woman's club, Mrs. Robert Blackburn, Mrs. Julia Evans Cope, Mrs. James A. Watson.

Grandmother knew beans

She knew the way to make beans wonderfully good to eat. She knew how to prepare them so they were tender, mealy, golden brown, delicious and easy to digest.

How did grandmother fix them? She baked them. How does Heinz prepare them today? Heinz bakes them.

Yes, baking—slow, careful baking in the dry heat of real ovens. It takes more time and trouble to prepare beans that way, but the better flavor makes it worth while.

Read the label, "Oven-Baked." Buy the beans, "Oven-Baked." Only beans that are baked in ovens can be labeled "Oven-Baked."

Baron DeKalb Chapter, D. A. R. Meets Friday

The regular meeting of the Baron DeKalb chapter, D. A. R. will occur Friday, November 26, at 3 o'clock at the residence of Dr. W. J. Houston, 418 Church street in Decatur. The hostesses will be Mrs. John Weckerling, Mrs. John Montgomery and Mrs. Laurence Everhart.

Captain Scott Candler will make an address on the Armistice and Thanksgiving. Mrs. Robert Daniel, the contralto of the Decatur Presbyterian church, will sing. This being the fourteenth anniversary of the organization of the chapter, Mrs. Albert S. Johnson will give the history of its beginning in Clarkson.

The distinctive feature of the social hour will be lighting the candles of the birthday cake by the past regents led by Mrs. Catherine Dillow, Shepherd, the founder.

In this ceremony, the absent regents will be represented by little Miss Jacqueline Weckerling, of Fort McPherson.

Hearing on Possession Of 2-Year-Old Child Set for November 29

Dawson, Ga., November 25.—(AP)—A hearing will be held at Dawson November 30 on the case of Harry Spilman, of Marietta, whose efforts to get his 2-year-old son, Harry, Jr., yesterday were resisted by the grandparents of the boy, Mr. and Mrs. William Littleton.

Spilman, who returned to Atlanta today, said that he came to Dawson to get his son with the intention of carrying him to Atlanta to reunite with his wife and three weeks' old baby. Mrs. Spilman is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Littleton. The child, Mr. Spilman said, was placed in the charge of its grandparents when Mrs. Spilman entered a hospital in Atlanta three weeks ago.

When he got to Dawson, Spilman said, the family opposed his efforts to take his son. He "jerked away" from them in the hall, got the boy and sped towards Atlanta in an automobile. When passing through Richland, Spilman said he was stopped by officers. Spilman went to a lawyer's office with the boy and was there when the sheriff of Terrell county arrived. The latter told Spilman that Mr. and Mrs. Littleton had sworn out warrants against him, including one charging kidnapping. He and the boy came back to Dawson and a preliminary trial was held at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon. At the trial a justice of the peace dismissed all of the warrants except that of kidnapping. Spilman made bond on that warrant and was immediately discharged from custody. Meanwhile the grandparents had begun habeas corpus proceedings to secure possession of the boy and a hearing was set on this for November 30. In the meantime the boy was left with Mr. and Mrs. Littleton. Spilman returned to Atlanta.

Spilman made it plain today that he was never locked up and was at no time in jail; that during the whole time he was at the lawyer's office, except when he was en route to Dawson and when in the courthouse there during the preliminary hearing before the justice of the peace.

MUSSOLINI MAKES FOES LIVE BACK OF DEAD LINE

Rome, November 25.—(AP)—Several hundred anti-fascists and social delinquents have been condemned to forced residence within police deadlines in Naples, Messina, Brescia and Venice. This action by the police committee is taken under the defense law, passed after the latest attempt on Mussolini's life.

Nine persons were arrested near Ponte Chiasso while trying to cross the frontier into Switzerland.

JUDGE'S HUNTING BAGS STOLEN FROM AUTO

A suit case containing hunting equipment and a handbag were stolen from an automobile in which Judge J. P. Ridley and James A. Two Gangsters Daughter Comes And Bystander To Berlin Home Shot in Beer War On Thanksgiving

Chicago, November 25.—Gang warfare broke out in Chicago again today when Charles O'Donnell, famous leader of the Irish beer-running faction which bears his name, his brother, Tom, and Clarence Barrett, were wounded by a volley of shotgun slugs fired from behind the curtains of a speeding automobile.

The leader of the O'Donnells was wounded 10 times in the back and physicians say he may die. Tom was shot in the arm and Barrett, a bystander, in the shoulder, but their wounds are not serious.

The outbreak took place at the corner of Fifty-sixth and Ashland streets on the south side, where numerous other gangsters have engaged each other in warfare over alcohol rights.

"Spike" O'Donnell, who shares with Charles the leadership of the Irish faction, was at a football game when the attack occurred. Walter, another member of the famous clan, was shot and killed last April with Assistant State's Attorney William McSwiggan, who was ambushed by machine gunners in Cicero.

The girl is said to be a "picture of her mother" with large blue eyes. Her exact weight was given as seven pounds and 12 ounces.

Dr. Harold Matley, obstetrician of York House, where Mrs. Berlin had been in confinement, described the baby as "just as perfect as they make 'em."

"Mrs. Berlin is doing wonderfully well and so is the baby," Dr. Matley said.

The Berlins were married last January 4 after one of the most amazing romances of Broadway and over the opposition of Ellin's multi-millionaire father, president of the Postal Telegraph company. The bride's mother, Mrs. Joseph A. Blake, did not oppose the marriage, however. She was one of the first persons to visit Ellin Thursday afternoon after the baby was born.

BIG CROWD ATTENDS BAPTIST SERVICES

Greeted by a congregation which almost filled the First Baptist church, Dr. Carter Helm Jones preached

Thursday morning from the text, "Bless the Lord, O My Soul, and Forget Not All His Benefits."

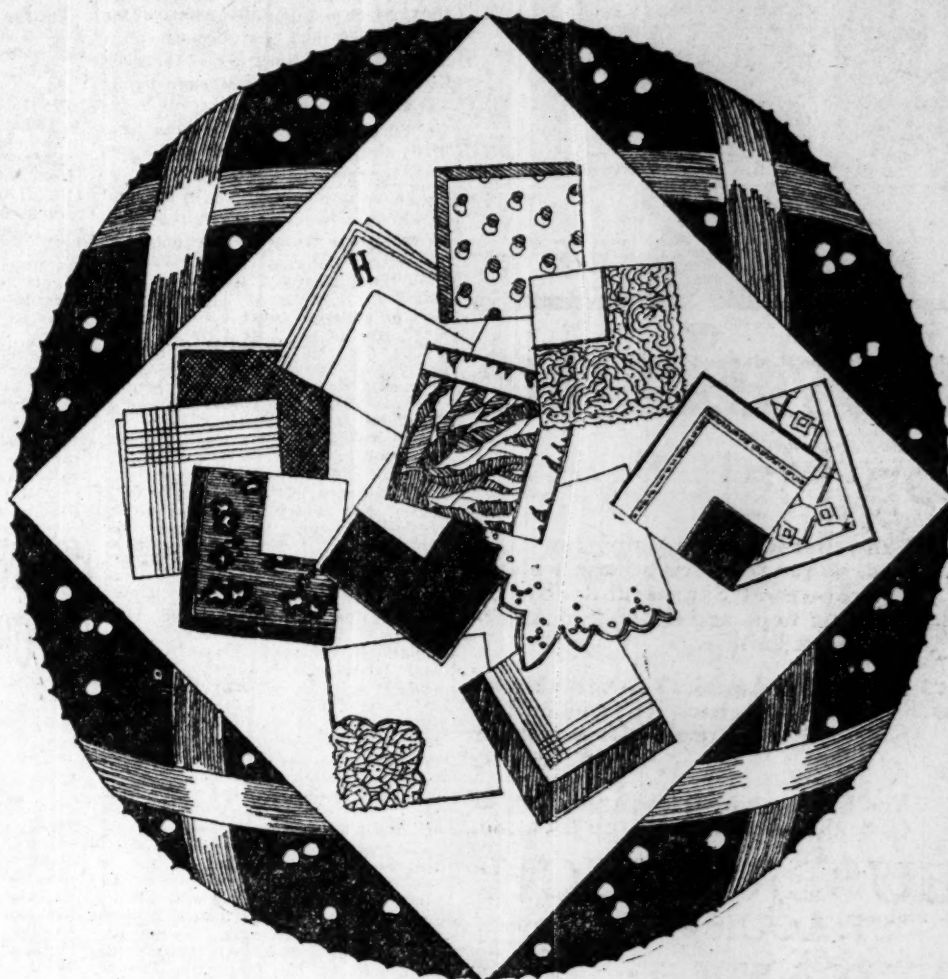

FRANCE'S "OLD MAIDS" HOLD CELEBRATION

(Copyright, 1926, for The Constitution and Paris, November 25.—France's "old maids" had their innings in the St.

Catherine's day celebrations today. Girls of 25 years or more who have not yet gathered husbands, dressed in elaborate lacy white bonnets and roamed the streets, cornering males and showering them with gratuitous embraces. However, this year's crop was so attractive, the masculine admirers seeking to be made victims became the aggressors and forced the girls to seek refuge at the numerous costume parties, where many of them contented themselves with sneering on the balconies and throwing kisses to the throngs below.

Christmas Handkerchiefs

Men's—Women's—Children's

DELICACY refined, daintiness sublimated, practicability developed to the "nth" degree of service. Such, we should say, serves very well to introduce our Christmas handkerchiefs.

As to the number now ready, we have lost count. The importations alone fill shelf after shelf with their precious fragility and filigreed beauty.

Of handkerchiefs of domestic manufacture, there is no end. Yet, with all these quantities, they were not bought by the ton. Each style was selected to fill an appropriate niche in the Hall of Gifts.

Perhaps it is futile and fatuous to urge the point, none the less, your duty is clear and definite: do your handkerchief shopping early! Selection is now at the pinnacle, and the importations cannot be duplicated.

Black Butterflies

By ELIZABETH JORDAN

INSTALLMENT LIX.
COMFORT.

Freckles so arranged himself that he could watch both Dorinda and David and be prepared for anything, while his amber eyes turned from one face to the other.

"It's all simply terrible," Dorinda said in a low voice. "No one needs to tell me that."

"No one has any idea of telling you that," David assured her.

"I know you wouldn't, but the rest will. I can hear Mr. Hatch now, and even Dr. Warren, though he has been so kind. Misspent lives and their inevitable result! The wages of sin is death. Poor Kitty's child, a terror as a text. That will be their note, and there isn't a house in Grandon tonight that isn't full of I-told-you-sos. The first thing Kitty did when I got there was to ask if I thought people would laugh at her."

"What did you say?"

"Can you ask? I said they wouldn't. But I knew, and she knew, they would make her their horrible example."

"Of course. I merely wondered how you put it, and whether there

To his horror she was crying again.

had been any extended talk. You haven't had time to tell me about it, you know."

If he could keep her talking, he decided, it would be easier for her. "Not that first time. Kitty kept trying to remember something she wanted to tell me—a warning from her own fate, poor darling. She remembered it yesterday, not long before she died. The misspent life was her text, too. She thought she was dying because of it, and perhaps she was. In their hearts she and Jim were conventional, though they didn't know it. They made a false start and hadn't the strength to change. Even when they made the brave concession of marrying they concealed their marriage, as if it had been a crime. They convinced themselves they had to live up to what they had preached, instead of up to what they really believed. It's all awfully hard to understand," she sighed. "But I suppose there's a big lesson to be learned from it."

"I think what it meant," David said gently, "is that Miss Perkins and Bryant, and probably Bailey, too, never believed even in the beginning in the creed they tried to live up to. They were afraid of life—all three of them—and they whooped and turned handsprings to keep up their courage, as kids whistle in the dark. They tried desperately to be wicked and sometimes they succeeded; but down under it all they were incurably decent."

It was probably the best epitaph that could be offered to the Black Butterflies, and Dorinda inscribed it on the mental monument she was erecting to their memory.

"That's true, I think," she agreed. "And Kitty herself understood it at the last. It's odd she didn't see it sooner. I'm trying to think that out. So often people don't seem to realize that they've done wrong until they have to 'pay the piper.' But they always have to pay, don't they?"

"I suppose so—in one way or another," David was conscious that he was getting beyond his depth. "Anyway, that's the generally accepted theory. If death doesn't collect from us, life is very apt to."

As he spoke a trick of memory brought Bryant before him in one of Jim's argumentative moods. Two weeks ago Bryant would have loved to dive into such a discussion and drag his associates under water with him! Bryant never realized that he was beyond his depth, so perhaps he never has been.

Dorinda bent forward and gathered Freckles into her lap, where the puppy settled contentedly, his apprehension almost at rest. She stroked him softly as she went on, finding a dim comfort in the nearness of the devoted creature.

"Doesn't it surprise you," she asked suddenly, "that a girl as plain as Kitty could win and hold two men so utterly and so long?"

David nodded.

"It was her music, of course. No one could resist her music. She could have done anything with me, any time, after she played; and you know she hypnotized everybody in the hospital!"

"And I'll never hear her music again," Dorinda wailed. "O, David, I'm so hideously lonely!"

She broke down, her tears falling on the puppy's white head, and Freckles sniffed and stirred uneasily, wondering what the humans were up to now. David rose and stood beside her, looking down at her. Her tears were torture to him and his helplessness was worse than her tears.

"Don't," he begged. "I can't bear to see you cry."

In that moment he felt that he could die to comfort her.

"Wouldn't it help a little if you could make a friend of me?" he suggested. "You know, that was the original idea."

Dorinda wiped her eyes with an almost vicious dab of her handkerchief.

"The one selfish act of my life," she brought out, "will be to let you have your freedom as fast as you can get it. And I'm going to do it. See what I've dragged you into already!"

"I disliked Bryant very much," David said conversationally. He dropped back into his chair, vastly relieved by the drying of her tears and ignoring her words. "And I confess I despised Bailey," he went on.

"Miss Perkins I admired because of her genius. As I've said, she could have done anything with me while I was under the spell of her playing, though I always got over it soon after she stopped. But in these few days," he ended soberly, "I've learned a lot about them all. I see now why you loved them, and why they had such a strong hold on you that you were almost ready to wreck your life rather than give them up. They didn't know much about life, but they were past masters at love and friendship. And love and friendship are such enormously important factors that one can forgive the Butterflies for ignoring most of the others."

"O, David, I think you do understand them. I was sure you would!"

To his horror she was crying again, but she put out a hand to him which he caught and held. It was an icy little hand and almost before he got the thrill of its contact he sprang up contritely.

"You're freezing here," he said, "and I haven't had sense enough to feed the fire or get you a wrap."

He hustled about, putting fresh logs on the andirons and bringing from the hall a fur coat he insisted that she must put on. Then he hurried into the dining room for a decanter of sherry, and begged her to drink some of it. As she obeyed her teeth chattered against the rim of the glass.

"I believe you've got a chill," he suggested, watching her anxiously. "Being in that icy studio all day has been too much for you."

"No, I'm all right, but it's rather nice to be waited on again."

The remark made him thoughtful. He remembered that Chad and Jim, whose manners were as correct as their morals were lax, had kept up a fairly steady fetching and carrying for the girls, and an adjusting of pillows and moving of chairs that at the time usually struck him as overdone. They had left him little if anything to do, and possibly he had neglected some of the courtesies he should have shown Dorinda. He hoped not, but it was something to think about.

The bell rang and Annie's light step along the hall was followed by the sound of the opening front door, other footsteps, and the reappearance of Chad, who immediately fixed an avid eye on the decanter.
